ALEX G. SPANOS

Owner

In his early years, Alex Spanos worked night and day, seven days a week in his father's bakery. His growing family was struggling to make ends meet on $40 a week. In 1951, at the age of 27, the time came for Spanos to make the toughest business decision of his life—to stay in the family business or strike out on his own.

More than 50 years later, Spanos has transformed an $800 loan into one of the leading real estate and development companies in the building industry. He is the founder and chairman of A.G. Spanos Companies, the nation's largest family-owned construction company, and his commitment to quality and integrity are imprinted in the daily operation and management of the San Diego Chargers as well as the 10 companies that are wholly owned and managed by the Spanos family.

"Alex Spanos is living proof that serving others is what much of life should be about. His success has never gone to his head, and his life is an example from which we might all learn."
Former President George Bush

REALIZING A DREAM

The success of the A.G. Spanos Companies has allowed him to pursue many dreams, including owning a National Football League team.

"I always believed in the pursuit of one's dreams," Spanos said in announcing his intention to buy the team. "For me, it has been a lifelong goal to own an NFL team. In buying the San Diego Chargers, I've been able to realize a dream." On Aug. 1, 1984, the dream became reality.

Though Spanos turned over much of the day-to-day operations of the Chargers in 1994 to his eldest son, Dean, he remains active in all business matters related to the team and the league. He currently serves on the League's Legislative Committee.

A MODEL BUSINESS

Spanos has made family part of his formula for business success. The A.G. Spanos organization, including the Chargers, is a family-run operation. Son Dean serves as president–chief executive officer of the Chargers and president–vice chairman of the Spanos corporate organization. Son Michael manages the construction and development activities of the company and is the executive vice president of the Chargers. Alex and his sons are the team behind each business venture. In addition, Dean's two sons—A.G. and John—both hold positions in the Chargers' front office.

In addition to the Chargers, the Spanos companies include A.G. Spanos Construction, Inc.; A.G. Spanos Management, Inc.; A.G. Spanos Development, Inc.; A.G. Spanos Enterprises, Inc.; A.G. Spanos Realty, Inc.; AGS Financial Corporation; AGS International Corporation; A.G. Spanos Securities Corporation, A.G. Spanos Ventures and The Spanos Corporation.

GIVING BACK

Spanos' community spirit and generosity have paid countless dividends for San Diego.

When wildfires ravaged San Diego County in 2003, Spanos jumped to the forefront with the single largest donation—$1 million to aid affected families and the recovery effort. Spanos and the team also collected additional funds for the San Diego Fire Relief Fund, adding another $500,000 to the total.

"My family and I are proud to be a part of the San Diego community," said Spanos. "I'm very fortunate to be in a position to help the city and the people who have been so supportive of the Chargers over the years.

"I believe I have a sacred duty to share my good fortune with my church, my community, my fellow Greek Americans and my family."

The Chargers Community Foundation, created and funded by Spanos in 1995 to "help San Diego build on its strengths by supporting individuals, activities and organizations that work to make the city a better place to live," focuses on youth and education and is a major source of community support in San Diego.

In March 2000, the Spanos family and the Foundation introduced the Chargers Champions program. Over the past six years, more than $2 million has been contributed to deserving schools, students and educators, making the Chargers' commitment unmatched in the San Diego community. In the past six years, 126 outstanding high school juniors have been awarded $7,000 scholarships and laptop computers. The Chargers Champions program has also awarded grants to schools as well as grants and laptop computers to San Diego's most deserving educators.

Spanos also has been a strong supporter of high school sports in San Diego. He annually sponsors the CIF San Diego Section football championships, allowing the games to be played in Qualcomm Stadium. His backing of the San Diego High School Sports Association and the San Diego County high school all-star football game led to the game being named the Alex Spanos All-Star Football Classic in 1993.

Spanos led the effort to bring Super Bowl XXXVII to San Diego in January 2003. It marked the second time in five years that Spanos had delivered the Super Bowl and focused the world's attention on San Diego. Spanos is credited for using his influence with the NFL and its owners to land Super Bowl XXXII for the City of San Diego, played Jan. 25, 1998. Each game brought close to $300 million to the regional economy.

His leadership was instrumental in bringing the 1996 Republican National Convention to San Diego, another financial coup for the city.

Here are just a few of the notable gifts from Spanos and the Foundation to San Diego:

- The Foundation's first contribution was a $1.5 million donation to kick off the $6.5 million fundraising effort for the San Diego Hall of Champions Sports Museum.
- In 1998, Spanos announced the creation of the Brooke Humphries Heart Fund in honor of retiring quarterback Stan Humphries and a six-figure contribution to San Diego Children's Hospital in Brooke's name. Stan's daughter Brooke underwent major surgery to correct a heart birth defect.
- Spanos and his family kicked off the week of Super Bowl XXXII in 1998 with major six-figure contributions to both Children's Hospital and the national Christmas in April program.
- In 1995, Spanos' financial support led to the development of a multi-use sports facility for the Pacific Beach community and the students of Kate Sessions Elementary and The Bishop's School. The Alex G. Spanos Sports Fields were dedicated in 1997.
- In 1994, he kicked off a fundraising telethon for the San Diego Olympic Training Center with another six-figure pledge and challenge to the local community.
- Spanos built the state-of-the-art Alex G. Spanos Athletic and Recreation Building at the University of California-San Diego.
- Children's Hospital benefited as did San Diego County Easter Seals when he served as chairman of their telethons. He also chaired the Loaned Executive campaign drive for United Way/CHAD.

"For more than two decades, Alex Spanos has been a beacon of inspiration and leadership for the entire National Football League. His passionate commitment to family, community, teamwork and achievement has helped keep the NFL firmly grounded in the values that are most important."

NFL Commissioner Paul Tagliabue

SUPPORTING STATE AND COUNTRY

Following the completion of the World War II Memorial in Washington D.C., Spanos made it possible for more than 145 WWII vets and their families from Northern California to take a trip to visit the Memorial. Operation Freedom Flight, as it was called, raised $225,000, including nearly $100,000 from Spanos.

In 1998 Spanos generously gave separate $1 million donations to four different institutions in California. His support to his alma mater, the University of the Pacific, improved the stadium, athletic facilities and residence halls for the entire student population. A similar contribution to Sacramento State's athletic facilities enabled the university to host the 2000 Olympic track and field trials. The same support also went to rebuild the Samuel N. Hancock Christian School, a private school in an urban area of Stockton. In 1997 he gave $1 million to the American Red Cross to help flood victims in Northern California and helped raise an additional $1 million.

Other notable efforts by Spanos include spearheading a 1991 campaign during the Gulf War crisis that raised more than $4.5 million for the USO, the most successful fund-raising event in its history. He also contributed $1.5 million to Cal Poly-San Luis Obispo in 1993 to build a theater for the college that was later named the Alex and Faye Spanos Theatre. He also was the founder and driving force behind seven biennial fund-raising dinners benefiting assorted children's charities, including San Diego Children's Hospital and Health Center, and each dinner neared or topped $1 million.

"Alex Spanos and his family have contributed not only their time, but their means for the betterment of all of San Diego. For that we will always be grateful."

Bob Breitbard, President Emeritus, San Diego Hall of Champions Sports Muesum

HONORED FOR GENEROSITY

Organizations in San Diego and across the country have honored Spanos often for his generosity.

Spanos and his wife Faye were appointed by President George W. Bush to the Presidential Delegation to the 2004 Olympic Games in Athens, Greece. They were joined on the Delegation by Former President George H.W. Bush, Mrs. Barbara Bush, The Honorable Thomas Miller, U.S. Ambassador to Greece; Ms. Barbara Bush, Ms. Jenna Bush and Ms. Chris Evert, former tennis champion.

Alex and Faye also were awarded honorary degrees of Doctor of Humane Letters at the commencement exercises for Hellenic College/Holy Cross. This year Alex also received a Doctor of Humanities from Cal Poly-San Luis Obispo.

Father Nicholas Triantafilou, President of Hellenic College, notes that "Faye and Alex Spanos represent all that is good about our Greek American heritage and Orthodox faith. At the center of their more than five decades together is the love, respect and honor which they have for each other, their family, their church and the great community in which they live."

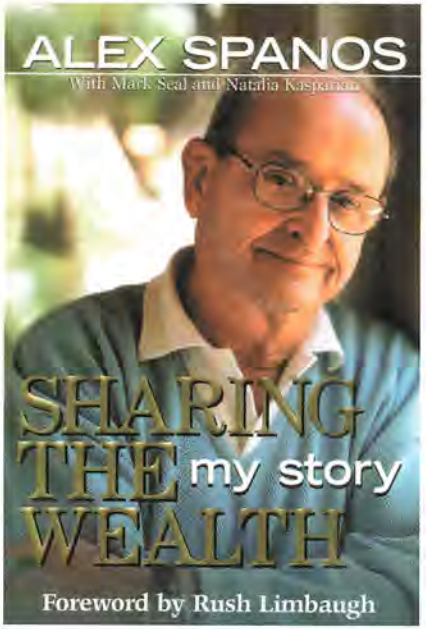

Spanos has received many of the nation's and San Diego's most prestigious honors for his commitment to community and humanity, including the Horatio Alger Award, the Ellis Island Medal of Honor, the Gloria Swanson Humanitarian Award, the Grand Cross of Honour by the Supreme Council of Scottish Rite, and the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai Brith's National Distinguished Community Service Award for devotion to community and concern for others. Son, Dean, earned the unique distinction of becoming a second generation recipient of the Ellis Island award in 2002.

Alex has received many of San Diego's top honors for his generosity, including awards given by the Greater San Diego Chamber of Commerce, the San Diego Convention and Visitors Bureau, and the San Diego Boys and Girls Clubs.

HIS STORY

These acts of caring demonstrate the commitment of a man who has carved a remarkable career in business and whose dedication to family and community has been an inspiring example for others.

Spanos outlined his lifelong credo of giving back in his autobiography, Sharing the Wealth: My Story, a compelling, first-hand account of the events and decisions in his life that became his basic fundamentals for success. As he reveals in his book, he feels it's a duty and privilege to share his secrets of success.

In the book's foreword, Rush Limbaugh says: "You are about to race through a marvelous and riveting account of a distinctly American life in which the concepts of 'failure' and 'can't' do not apply…Be prepared to be dazzled, informed, entertained, and challenged….This is a book that will change your life forever and for the good."

Spanos was born September 28, 1923, in Stockton, California. He developed his tireless work ethic early, starting at age eight in his father's restaurant, rising before dawn to help prepare pastries before attending school. In 1951, Spanos borrowed $800, purchased a truck and set out on his own. He began his own catering business and later began investing in real estate. In 1960 he formed the A.G. Spanos Construction Company.

Another side to this complex man was revealed with the help of his close friend Bob Hope. Spanos displayed an entertainer's talent and flair when he lived a childhood dream and danced on stage. Together, Spanos and Hope sang and danced on numerous occasions both in the United States and abroad.

Spanos' acquisition of the Chargers culminated a lifelong interest and involvement in sports. He earned varsity letters in swimming and diving at the University of the Pacific in Stockton and later distinguished himself as an amateur golfer. Spanos was the first person ever to be on the winning teams in both the Bob Hope Desert Classic in Palm Desert (1977) and the Bob Hope British Pro-Am (1980).

Alex and his wife, Faye, are celebrating 57 years of marriage this year (Aug. 22). The couple has four children—Dean, Dea (Mrs. Ron Berberian), Alexis (Mrs. Barry Ruhl), and Michael—and 15 grandchildren. They maintain residences in Stockton and Palm Springs, California, and Tarpon Springs, Florida.

DEAN A. SPANOS

President – Chief Executive Officer

Under Dean Spanos' direction, the San Diego Chargers are number one in the AFC Western Division and number one in the hearts of the San Diego faithful.

As the Chargers' president and chief executive officer, Spanos has been the team's highest-ranking executive and decision maker for the past 11 years. In 2004, Spanos' foresight and leadership paid dividends as the Chargers returned to prominence in the National Football League. His direction produced one of the greatest revivals in NFL history, turning the Chargers into in a 12-4 division champion and one of the NFL's hottest commodities in just one year. Fans have flocked to grab a piece of the excitement, selling out Qualcomm Stadium for five of the last six games. This amazing turnaround was accomplished with one of the youngest rosters in football, pointing to a bright and winning future for the team.

Spanos' personal relationship with San Diego goes well beyond the football field. Dean and the Spanos family are recognized as one of pro football's most philanthropic families and one of Southern California's most active and caring contributors. His unending financial and emotional support of youth sports and education is unmatched in San Diego.

Spanos continues to drive toward two goals: build the Chargers into a perennial NFL powerhouse and solidify the team's future in San Diego. Despite the constant pressure to win now, Spanos stood behind the long-term plan that he, General Manager A.J. Smith and Head Coach Marty Schottenheimer had implemented. His confidence was rewarded with an AFC West title while Smith was named NFL Executive of the Year by Pro Football Weekly and FoxSports.com and Schottenheimer was a consensus Coach of the Year recipient.

SAN DIEGO'S TEAM

Last year he also took a giant step closer to his goal to solidify the team's future in San Diego when he hired Jim Steeg away from the NFL offices in New York. The highly respected Steeg will serve as the team's executive vice president and chief operating officer. He will spearhead the team's effort to design a new state-of-the-art stadium for San Diego while leading the front office operations.

Spanos' commitment to San Diego and the team is clear, dedicating millions of dollars to develop a plan to give San Diegans a modern football-only stadium and secure a home for their football team. His leadership of the team and passion for San Diego is undeniable. The reason for this heartfelt bond is clear: Dean has proudly called San Diego home since the day he moved his family to La Jolla in 1984.

"We've been here for more than 20 years," said Spanos. "Susie and I have raised our kids here. This is our home."

DUAL PRESIDENCIES

Few NFL owners or businessmen of any kind are as involved in every aspect of their company's inner workings as Spanos. He oversees the business and football operations of the Chargers, a leadership role he has held since taking over as president–chief executive officer in 1994. He also plays a prominent role in league affairs and serves on the NFL's Business Ventures Committee.

After his father purchased majority interest in the team on Aug. 1, 1984, Dean became the man behind the scenes for the Chargers while serving as president of all Spanos corporate entities and vice chairman of the AGS Financial Corporation. For 32 years, Dean has been working alongside his father in apartment construction and land development in the family-owned business. He shares the responsibility with his brother, Michael, for all construction operations nationwide and all financial matters relating to the acquisition and development of projects for the Spanos organization.

After Dean took the reins in early 1994, the Chargers didn't wait long to enjoy the benefits of his guidance. Less than a year later, the Chargers were playing in Super Bowl XXIX in Miami, Florida in January 1995.

CONTINUES TRADITION OF GIVING

In addition to running the football organization, he has continued the long-standing tradition of community support by the Spanos family and the Chargers.

In March 2000, Dean announced the creation of Chargers Champions, a community initiative benefiting students, schools and educators that are "making the difference" for San Diego's future. Over the past six years at the annual Chargers Champions All-Star Gala, 126 outstanding high school juniors have been awarded $7,000 scholarships and laptop computers. Since 2001, Chargers Champions has awarded grants to schools as well as grants and laptops to San Diego's most deserving teachers and coaches. This commitment of $400,000 annually in educational scholarships and grants—exceeding $2 million over six years—is unmatched in San Diego.

Local students received a giant boost when the Spanos family and Chargers Community Foundation supplied the initial funding to organize the first-ever freshman football and girls volleyball programs in the 16 San Diego City high schools in 2000. This major public-private partnership provided more than 1,000 extracurricular opportunities annually for students.

San Diego County schools have also benefited financially from the Chargers' generosity. In 1998, the Chargers created Touchdowns for Youth to reward students who have outstanding attendance. With more than $3 million in support from the Chargers, schools in San Diego County realized an increase in funding from the state (based on "average daily attendance") of nearly $10 million.

Another huge economic benefit to the community came in 1998 when Dean and Alex Spanos secured Super Bowl XXXVII for the City of San Diego. It marked the second time in five years that the City of San Diego enjoyed the huge financial windfall from hosting a Super Bowl. Super Bowl XXXVII in January 2003 brought more than $300 million to the San Diego economy.

Dean is a major contributor throughout the San Diego business and civic communities. He is an emeritus member of the board of directors for the San Diego International Sports Council, a group of San Diego business executives committed to promote and enhance economic development through sports of all kinds in San Diego. Dean has also served on the boards of the San Diego Economic Development Corporation, the Greater San Diego Chamber of Commerce and the San Diego Inner-City Games. He continues to be a major contributor and supporter of Children's Hospital, the American Cancer Society, the Huntington's Disease Society of America and the United Way.

COMMUNITY HONORS

Community honors come frequently to Dean and Susie Spanos. A few of the more prestigious and recent awards include the Warner Award, the top honor of the national Pop Warner football organization bestowed to Dean for his commitment to the youth football organization and its Little Scholars education initiative. The San Diego Chapter of the National Football Foundation also presented Dean with its highest honor, the Distinguished American Award.

Dean and Susie were awarded the Harold Leventhal Community Service Award in 2003, the top award of the Huntington's Disease Society of America, presented by the national board for their generosity. Dean earned the unique distinction of being a second-generation recipient of the prestigious Ellis Island Medal of Honor, accepting the award in 2002, 16 years after his father was similarly honored. He was inducted into the DeMolay International Alumni Hall of Fame in 2002. DeMolay International is an organization dedicated to preparing young men to lead successful and productive lives. In 2001, the San Diego Hall of Champions Sports Museum presented Dean and Susie with their Community Champions Award, the Hall's most prestigious award.

A.J. SMITH

Executive Vice President – General Manager
21st NFL Season, 7th with Chargers

The 2004 NFL season was rewarding in many ways for General Manager A.J. Smith. He was named the NFL's Executive of the Year by Pro Football Weekly and the Professional Football Writers of America. Smith put his personal stamp on a team that improved from 4-12 in 2003 to 12-4 in 2004, and captured its first AFC West title since 1994. Smith earned similar accolades from FoxSports.com, while being named the NFL's Best Front Office Executive by CBS Sportsline.com.

Smith bolstered the roster last season by making several key player acquisitions through free agency and trades. Before the season started, he signed free agents Steve Foley, Randall Godfrey and Mike Goff, and pulled off trades to land tackle Roman Oben and cornerback Jamar Fletcher. Then, with the NFL's 2004 trade deadline approaching in October, Smith secured the services of wide receiver Keenan McCardell.

Smith's draft-day maneuvers have been a complete success. Smith selected Mississippi quarterback Eli Manning with the first overall pick in 2004 and then traded him to the New York Giants for North Carolina State quarterback Philip Rivers, whom the Giants had acquired with the fourth-overall choice, along with New York's first- and fifth-round picks in 2005, and a third-round choice in 2004. This blockbuster trade gave the Chargers 11 choices in the 2004 draft. Three of the players selected, defensive end Igor Olshansky (second round), center Nick Hardwick (third round) and tackle Shane Olivea (seventh round) all started as rookies. A fourth, kicker Nate Kaeding (third round) set a rookie team scoring record and was named to a couple of all-rookie teams.

This year, Smith used the team's two picks in the first round to select linebacker Shawne Merriman from Maryland and defensive end/tackle Luis Castillo from Northwestern. Merriman was chosen with the pick acquired from the Giants.

Smith began his stint as executive vice president–general manager on Tuesday, April 22, 2003.

His close friend and longtime associate John Butler lost his battle with cancer on April 11, and it was Smith whom Chargers President Dean Spanos tabbed to take the reins in his stead.

Before Smith was named to his new position, he spent the previous 27 years moving methodically through the ranks of professional football. Smith was a part-time scout, full-time scout, assistant director of scouting, director of scouting and assistant general manager before being promoted to executive vice president–general manager of the Chargers.

At the time of Smith's hiring, NFL executives said:

Chargers President Dean Spanos: "A.J.'s experience, both in the NFL and in our system, made him the ideal candidate. In the two years that John (Butler) was our general manager, he created a terrific infrastructure for our front office. A.J. was the first and most important person John hired."

Indianapolis Colts President Bill Polian: "In football, A.J. has been there and done that with everything there is to do in the game, going back to the USFL days. He is a quintessential football man."

Baltimore Ravens G.M. Ozzie Newsome: "A.J. learned from Bill Polian (Buffalo). He learned from George Allen (USFL). He's been around successful people, so he's learned the right way to do things."

Smith has worked in pro football since 1977, including three years in the United States Football League in the early 1980s.

He began his second tenure with the Chargers Jan. 18, 2001 as assistant general manager and director of pro personnel. His duties included monitoring NFL transactions, evaluating pro talent, handling tryouts and free agent contracts.

Smith spent 14 seasons (1987-2000) with the Buffalo Bills, joining the team as an area scout in 1987, before being named assistant director of college scouting in 1989. In 1993, Smith became director of pro personnel.

During his tenure with the Bills, referred to as the "Glory Years" in Bills history, Smith worked closely with Hall of Fame coach Marv Levy as assistant director of college scouting during Buffalo's appearances in Super Bowls XXV, XXVI and XXVII. Smith was promoted to director of pro personnel prior to the Bills' appearance in Super Bowl XXXVIII.

Smith served as the Chargers pro personnel director from 1985-86. He also held scouting positions with the USFL's Chicago Blitz (1982-83) and Pittsburgh Maulers (1984). He began his NFL career in 1977 as a volunteer part-time scout for the New York Giants under the direction of Jim Trimble and moved on to become a part-time scout for the New England Patriots (1978-1980) and Houston Oilers (1981).

Smith made his start in football as an assistant coach at Cranston West High School in Cranston, Rhode Island from 1971-76. He was the head coach of the Rhode Island Kings of the Eastern Football League in 1976 and an assistant coach at the University of Rhode Island in 1978.

Smith was born Feb. 28, 1949 and is a graduate of Bishop Hendricken High School in Warwick, Rhode Island. He was a standout on the football and track teams and was inducted into the school's hall of fame in 2003. Smith earned a degree in health and physical education from Kentucky Wesleyan College in 1971. In June 2005, Smith returned to his alma mater for the dedication and presentation of a plaque in his honor, which will hang in the new A.J. Smith Weight Room inside the Woodward Health and Recreation Center.

Smith played semipro football as a wide receiver with the Attleboro (Mass.) Kings of the Eastern Football League from 1972-74 and had a tryout with the Washington Redskins in 1974. He was inducted into the American Football Association's Minor/Semipro Football Hall of Fame in 1990. Smith also taught health and physical education in the Providence (R.I.) junior high school system from 1971-1985.

Smith and his wife, Susan, reside in Sorrento Valley. They have a daughter, Andrea, and a son, Kyle. Andrea graduated cum laude from Cortland State (N.Y.) with a degree in sports management. She was an honorable mention All-America as an outside hitter for the Red Dragons, as well as a conference and team MVP. Andrea now lives in Los Angeles and is the community relations coordinator for the Los Angeles Sparks of the WNBA. Kyle is a senior wide receiver and punt returner at Youngstown State. He ranks 20th in school history with 1,054 yards on 64 career catches. He ranks fourth in school history with 313 punt-return yards and 47 career returns. In 2004, Kyle was an All-Gateway Conference honorable mention choice and the team's offensive MVP.

MARTY SCHOTTENHEIMER

Head Coach
29th NFL Season, 4th with Chargers

The accolades came pouring in for Head Coach Marty Schottenheimer after he led the Chargers to one of the greatest turnarounds in NFL history last season. Schottenheimer took a ball club that finished last in the AFC West in 2003 and turned it into an AFC West Champion (12-4) in 2004. It was the franchise's first division title since 1994 and the Chargers became the 22nd team in NFL history to go from worst-to-first since 1967.

When the dust settled, Schottenheimer had been named the NFL Coach of the Year by the Associated Press, Pro Football Weekly and the Professional Football Writers of America, SportsIllustrated.com, American Football Monthly, The Dallas Morning News, CBS SportsLine.com and the NFL Alumni Association. He also was chosen as the Professional Coach of the Year by the Maxwell Football Club and the AFC Coach of the Year by the NFL 101 Committee in Kansas City.

The Chargers won with a balanced offense and a solid defense. The Bolts rushed for 2,185 yards and passed for 3,506. The team's quarterbacks were efficient with the football, throwing 29 touchdowns and only seven interceptions. The Bolts' defense finished the season ranked third in the NFL against the run. Their +15 turnover ratio tied for the second-best in team history and was third-best in the NFL.

The Chargers' playoff run marked the 12th time during Schottenheimer's illustrious career that he had taken his team to the postseason. It tied for third-most playoff appearances in NFL history with Hall of Fame coaches Bud Grant and Chuck Noll.

At the same time, Schottenheimer became the fifth NFL head coach to lead three different teams to the playoffs (Chargers, Chiefs and Browns). He joined a fraternity that included Bill Parcells (Giants, Patriots, Jets and Cowboys), Dick Vermeil (Eagles, Rams and Chiefs) Chuck Knox (Rams, Bills and Seahawks) and Dan Reeves (Broncos, Giants and Falcons).

Schottenheimer moves into the 2005 season with 177 career wins in the regular season. He has the most wins among active NFL head coaches. His career win total places him eighth on the NFL's all-time list. He trails Don Shula (328), George Halas (318), Tom Landry (250), Curly Lambeau (226), Noll (193), Reeves (190) and Knox (186).

Including the playoffs, Schottenheimer has a combined record of 182-129-1 (.585) as an NFL head coach.

Guiding the Bolts to 12 wins in 2004 marked the 13th time that Schottenheimer has coached his team to a winning record. The Chargers' 12 wins matched the second-highest single-season win total of his career (Cleveland, 1986). His teams in Kansas City won 13 games in 1995 and '97. Since 1984, Schottenheimer has had only two losing seasons.

Schottenheimer became the 13th head coach in Chargers history on Jan. 29, 2002. He landed his first job as a head coach with Cleveland in 1984 and remained with the Browns through the 1988 season. From there, he spent the 1989-1998 seasons with the Kansas City Chiefs and the 2001 season with the Washington Redskins. From 1999-2000, Schottenheimer worked as an analyst for ESPN.

Schottenheimer's head coaching career began on Oct. 22, 1984 when the Browns named him head coach to replace Sam Rutigliano after a 1-7 start. Schottenheimer had been the team's defensive coordinator and defensive backs coach under Rutigliano. The results were immediate as Schottenheimer led the Browns to a 4-4 record in the second half of the '84 season.

Over the next four seasons (1985-88), Schottenheimer would lead the Browns to the playoffs four times. They captured three AFC Central Division titles and played in two AFC Championship Games (1986-87). Both times, the Browns were defeated in the AFC Championship Game by Denver.

Schottenheimer resigned following the 1988 season. He finished his career in Cleveland with a record of 46-31 (.597), including playoffs.

On Jan. 24, 1989, Schottenheimer was named head coach of the Kansas City Chiefs, becoming the seventh head coach in Chiefs history. From 1989-1998, Schottenheimer's teams would average 10 wins a season and qualify for the playoffs seven times.

The Chiefs were dominant at home under Schottenheimer, where their 62-18 (.775) record from 1989-1998 was the third-best in the NFL behind San Francisco's 67-13 (.838) and Denver's 63-17 (.788). The Chiefs and 49ers were the only teams in the NFL to reach the playoffs seven times in the '90s. From 1989-1997, the Chiefs finished either first or second in the AFC West, a nine-year stretch matched only by the Pittsburgh Steelers (1971-79) since the AFL-NFL merger in 1970.

Schottenheimer had a strong hold on the AFC West during his 10 seasons as the head coach in Kansas City, as evidenced by his 55-28 (.663) record within the division. His success included an outstanding mark of 18-3 (.857) against the Chargers' biggest rival, the Oakland Raiders.

His Kansas City teams were known for their aggressive defense. From 1989-1998, the Chiefs had an NFL-best +99 turnover ratio and led the league in turnover ratio during the 1990, '92 and '95 seasons. The Chiefs ranked in the NFL's top-five in this category seven out of 10 seasons and they set an NFL record by recording a +10 turnover ratio in six consecutive seasons from 1990-95.

In 1990, he coached the Chiefs to a record of 11-5 and into the playoffs. It was their most wins in a season since 1969 and their first playoff berth since 1986.

In 1993, he led the Chiefs to another 11-5 mark and the franchise's first-ever appearance in the AFC Championship Game.

In 1995 and '97 he led the Chiefs to AFC-best records of 13-3, but both times they lost in the Divisional Playoff round.

On Jan. 11, 1999, Schottenheimer retired from coaching, leaving Kansas City with a record of 101-58-1 (.634). He spent the next two years (1999-2000) with ESPN before rejoining the coaching ranks in 2001 when he was named head coach of the Washington Redskins. He spent just one season in Washington as the Redskins finished 8-8.

In June, Marty was joined at the San Diego Fire & Rescue Helicopter Invitational by Padres Manager Bruce Bochy, Dean Spanos and San Diego Fire Chief Jeff Bowman.

Schottenheimer's athletic career began at Ft. Cherry High School in McDonald, Pennsylvania, where he was an honors student and a standout on the football and basketball teams. He was an All-Western Pennsylvania linebacker and a center on the school's state championship basketball team.

Schottenheimer earned a scholarship to the University of Pittsburgh and became an All-America linebacker. In 1965, he was selected to play in the College All-Star Game at Chicago's Soldier Field. Schottenheimer was later named to the University's All-Time Team.

After earning his degree in English from Pittsburgh, Schottenheimer was selected in the fourth round of the 1965 NFL Draft by the Baltimore Colts and the seventh round of the 1965 AFL Draft by the Buffalo Bills. He signed with the Bills and played in Buffalo from 1965-68. During his rookie season in 1965, the Bills defeated the Chargers, 23-0, to win the AFL Championship.

In 1969, he joined the Boston Patriots and played in Boston for two seasons. In 1971, the Patriots traded Schottenheimer to the Pittsburgh Steelers. After training camp had ended in '71, the Steelers dealt the young linebacker to the Colts and he decided to retire shortly thereafter.

For the next four years (1971-74), Schottenheimer sold real estate in Miami and Denver.

In 1974, he returned to football, signing with the Portland Storm of the World Football League. A shoulder injury ended his playing career, but he remained with the team as an assistant coach, working with the team's linebackers.

In 1975, he landed his first NFL coaching job as the linebackers coach for the New York Giants. He held that position for two seasons until he was named defensive coordinator in 1977.

In 1978, Schottenheimer was hired as the linebackers coach for the Detroit Lions. In 1980, he was hired by the Browns as defensive coordinator and defensive backs coach.

Schottenheimer was born Sept. 23, 1943 in Canonsburg, Pennsylvania, He and his wife, Pat, have two children, Kristen and Brian, and two grandsons, Brandon and Sutton. Brian, a former University of Florida quarterback who was on his father's coaching staffs with the Chiefs (1998) and Redskins (2001), is currently the Chargers quarterbacks coach. ASSISTANT COACHES

CAM CAMERON

Offensive Coordinator
7th NFL Season, 4th with Chargers

Cam Cameron put a charge into San Diego's offense in 2004. The Chargers scored 446 points, third-highest in the NFL and the third-most in team history. Following the season, SportsIllustrated. com named Cameron its Offensive Assistant of the Year.

The Chargers were the only team in the NFL with a quarterback who threw 20 touchdown passes (Drew Brees), a running back with at least 10 rushing touchdowns (LaDainian Tomlinson) and a receiver with at least 10 touchdown catches (Antonio Gates). All three players were selected to the Pro Bowl.

Cameron's play-calling in 2003 led to another record-setting year for Tomlinson, who became the first player in NFL history to rush for more than 1,000 yards and catch 100 passes in the same season. Tomlinson racked up 2,370 yards from scrimmage, second-most in NFL history, and rushed for 1,645 yards, second-most in team history.

In 2002, Cameron's first season as offensive coordinator, Tomlinson rushed for a team-record 1,683 yards.

Cameron joined the Chargers after five seasons (1997-2001) as the head coach at Indiana University.

At Indiana, Cameron helped develop quarterback Antwaan Randle El into a 2001 first-team All-America selection. Randle El was the NCAA Division I-A rushing leader among quarterbacks and finished his career as the only player in major college football history to rush and pass for 40 touchdowns

In 2000, the Hoosiers led the Big Ten in rushing (266.4 ypg). The team's average of 5.8 yards per carry ranked second in the nation behind the University of Nebraska.

Cameron spent the 1994-96 seasons as the quarterbacks coach for the Washington Redskins. He was credited with the development of quarterback Gus Frerotte, who was selected to the Pro Bowl in 1997.

Cameron spent 10 seasons (1984-1993) as an assistant coach at the University of Michigan. He worked the first two years as a graduate assistant. From 1986-89 he coached wide receivers, and from 1990-93 he coached quarterbacks as well as wide receivers. During his 10 seasons in Ann Arbor, the Wolverines won six Big Ten titles and played in 10 bowl games, including five Rose Bowls. Cameron helped cultivate future NFL talents such as Jim Harbaugh, Elvis Grbac, Desmond Howard, Derrick Alexander and Amani Toomer.

For Cameron, the move into coaching was a natural fit. His stepfather, Tom Harp, was a head coach at Cornell (1961-65), Duke (1966-1970) and Indiana State (1973-77). Cameron and Harp each have the unique distinction of coaching a Heisman Trophy winner. Cameron coached Desmond Howard at Michigan and Harp was an assistant coach at West Point when Pete Dawkins claimed the trophy in 1958.

Cameron had a successful collegiate career as a two-sport letterman in football and basketball at Indiana. He lettered two years at quarterback and three in basketball before a football knee injury in his senior year ended his playing career. Cameron graduated from Indiana in 1983 with a degree in business.

Cameron was born Feb. 6, 1961 in Chapel Hill, North Carolina. While his stepfather coached at Indiana State, Cameron was a prep standout at South High School in Terre Haute, Indiana. He was an All-America selection in football as a senior and earned all-state honors twice and all-county honors three times. He was named Vigo County's Athlete of the Year in 1978 and 1979. Cameron led his team to three consecutive state basketball finals, and in 1979 he was named the winner of the state's prestigious Trester Award for mental attitude. In 1979, he also was named National Athlete of the Year by the Fellowship of Christian Athletes

Cameron and wife Missy have four children, sons Tommy, Danny and Christopher, and daughter Elizabeth.

WADE PHILLIPS

Defensive Coordinator

29th NFL Season, 2nd with Chargers

In January 2004, Marty Schottenheimer hired Wade Phillips as the Chargers' new defensive coordinator. Phillips implemented the 3-4 defense and the results were outstanding. The Chargers ranked 18th in total defense and third against the run.

San Diego's defense held its opponents to an average of just 81.7 yards per game on the ground and yielded only two rushes of 20 yards or longer all season. The defense allowed only 3.7 yards per carry in 2004, sixth-lowest in the NFL.

When the Chargers won the AFC West and qualified for the playoffs in 2004 on the heels of a 4-12 season in 2003, Phillips kept his streak intact of helping to turn teams with nonwinning records into playoff participants the following year. The last six times Phillips has taken over as a defensive coordinator or head coach for a team that had a nonwinning record, his new team went to the playoffs. The teams he helped turn around are Denver (defensive coordinator and head coach), Buffalo (defensive coordinator and head coach), Atlanta (defensive coordinator) and San Diego (defensive coordinator).

Phillips has a wealth of NFL experience, both as a defensive coordinator and head coach. He spent the 2002-03 seasons as the defensive coordinator for the Atlanta Falcons. He also served as Atlanta's interim head coach for the Falcons' final three games after Dan Reeves was released from his contract on Dec. 10, 2003. Phillips posted a record of 2-1 as Atlanta's head coach, highlighted by a 30-28 victory at Tampa Bay that knocked the defending Super Bowl Champions out of playoff contention.

Phillips' defense in 2002 mastered the big play. The team finished with 47 sacks, second-most in team history; 39 total takeaways, second in the league; and 24 interceptions, fourth in the league.

From 1998-2000, Phillips was the vice president of football operations and head coach of the Buffalo Bills. In three seasons, he compiled a record of 29-19. Phillips took the reigns after a disappointing 6-10 finish in 1997 and reversed the team's fortunes by leading it to a 10-6 record and the playoffs in 1998. His 1999 team led the NFL in total defense, went 11-5 and earned another trip to the postseason.

Phillips was Buffalo's defensive coordinator from 1995-97. In '96, the Bills led the NFL with 49 quarterback sacks and Bryce Paup was named MVP after leading the league with 17.5 sacks. The Bills' defense allowed a league-low 22 touchdown passes and 3.4 yards per carry, while ranking second in sacks (48), yards per play (4.3) and opponent completion percentage (.520).

Phillips went 16-16 in two seasons (1993-94) as the head coach in Denver.

He was also a defensive coordinator in Denver (1989-1992), Philadelphia (1986-88) and New Orleans (1981-85).

Phillips' NFL coaching career began in Houston in 1976 under his father, longtime NFL coach Bum Phillips. Bum was an assistant coach with the Chargers from 1967-1973. Wade coached linebackers for the Oilers in '76 before taking over as defensive line coach from 1977-1980. In 1981, he became the defensive coordinator for the Saints.

Phillips initially entered the coaching ranks as a graduate assistant at his alma mater, the University of Houston, in 1969. From 1970-72 he was the defensive coordinator at Orange High School in Orange, Texas. He returned to the collegiate ranks for the 1973-74 seasons at Oklahoma State and the 1975 season at Kansas.

Phillips was born June 21, 1947 in Orange, Texas. He played linebacker at the University of Houston from 1966-68 after a

ROB CHUDZINSKI

Tight Ends

2nd NFL Season, 1st with Chargers

Rob Chudzinski joined the Chargers as tight ends coach in February 2005. He has the good fortune of working with an outstanding cast that includes Pro Bowl tight end Antonio Gates, fourth-year pro Justin Peelle and Ryan Krause, a sixth-round draft choice in 2004.

Chudzinski has 11 years of coaching experience, including 10 at the University of Miami and one with the Cleveland Browns.

At Miami, Chudzinski spent two seasons (1994-95) as a graduate assistant before being promoted to tight ends coach for the 1996-2000 seasons. In 2001, he was named offensive coordinator in addition to his role as tight ends coach, a post he maintained until joining the Browns in 2004.

During his three seasons as offensive coordinator, the Hurricanes played in three Bowl Championship Series games, including two National Championship games. In 2001, his first as coordinator, the 'Canes went 12-0 and defeated Nebraska to win the National Championship. In 2002, Miami's offense set school records for points, total yards and rushing touchdowns. The 'Canes went 12-1 in '02, their only defeat coming in overtime against Ohio State in the National Championship game.

One of Chudzinski's prized pupils at Miami was Kellen Winslow, Jr., son of Chargers Hall of Fame tight end Kellen Winslow. In 2003, Winslow won the John Mackey Award as the nation's top collegiate tight end before becoming a first-round pick of the Browns. Chudzinski also helped develop two other All-America tight ends at Miami, Bubba Franks in 1999 and Jeremy Shockey in 2001. Franks and Shockey both became first-round picks with Green Bay and the New York Giants, respectively.

Chudzinski played tight end for the 'Canes from 1986-90 and was a member of National Championship teams in 1987 and '89. He graduated from Miami with a degree in business in 1990 and an MBA in 1996.

Chudzinski was born May 12, 1968 in Toledo, Ohio. He played football at Toledo St. John's High School. Rob and his wife, Sheila, live in San Diego.

STEVE CROSBY

Special Teams

28th NFL Season, 4th with Chargers

Steve Crosby's special teams were special in 2004.

Punter Mike Scifres was named a first-alternate to the Pro Bowl after ranking third in the NFL with a 38.4-yard net average. Kicker Nate Kaeding earned all-rookie honors after setting a team rookie scoring record with 114 points. And five players—Clinton Hart, Hanik Milligan, Kassim Osgood, Jamar Fletcher and Jesse Chatman—recorded double-digit totals for special teams tackles.

Prior to joining the Chargers, Crosby spent four seasons (1998-2001) at Vanderbilt University as offensive coordinator and wide receivers coach. In the four seasons he was in charge of the Commodores' offense, the passing game improved each year, from 150.0 yards per game in 1998 to 240.6 yards per game in 2001.

In 27 years in the NFL, Crosby has spent three seasons as a player, four as a scout and 20 as a coach. He spent the 1996-97 seasons scouting for the Philadelphia Eagles. Crosby was an assistant coach with the Cleveland Browns from 1991-95, serving as running backs coach, offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach at various times. In 1990, he coached special teams and tight ends for the New England Patriots.

From 1983-84 and 1986-89, Crosby was an assistant with the Atlanta Falcons. His responsibilities included running backs and quarterbacks.

Crosby began his career in professional football as a player, spending the 1974-76 seasons as a running back with the New York Giants.

After retiring, Crosby put in two seasons (1977-78) as a scout and four seasons (1979-1982) as an assistant coach for the Miami Dolphins. He coached special teams and linebackers and continued to work in the player personnel department. Crosby was part of the staff that guided Miami to the Super Bowl in 1983.

During his career as an NFL assistant coach, Crosby tutored numerous Pro Bowl players, including quarterbacks Steve Bartkowski, Bernie Kosar and Vinny Testaverde, and running backs William Andrews, Earnest Byner, Gerald Riggs, Kevin Mack and Eric Metcalf.

Crosby was an All-America running back at Fort Hays State in Hays, Kansas. He was twice named to the NAIA All-America team, and he was a three-time all-conference performer before being selected by the Giants in the 17th round of the 1974 NFL Draft.

Crosby was born July 3, 1950 in Great Bend, Kansas. He attended Pawnee Rock High School. Crosby earned bachelor's and master's degrees in physical education from Fort Hays State.

Steve and his wife, Lisa, have three children, sons, Matthew and Jeffrey, and daughter, Lauren.

JAMES LOFTON

Wide Receivers

20th NFL Season, 4th with Chargers

Hall of Fame wide receiver James Lofton is in his fourth season as the wide receivers coach for the San Diego Chargers. One of the most prolific pass catchers in NFL history, Lofton was selected to the Hall of Fame's 2003 class on January 25, 2003.

Lofton's receiving corps was led by Eric Parker, who enjoyed a breakout season in 2004. Parker set career highs with 47 catches, 690 yards and four touchdowns. The group should be bolstered even further in 2005 with the addition of veteran Keenan McCardell, who joined the Chargers in October and still caught 31 passes for 393 yards and a touchdown.

During an NFL career than spanned 16 seasons (1978-1993), Lofton caught 764 passes for 14,004 yards (18.3 avg.) and scored 75 touchdowns. His 764 career receptions rank 14th in league history, while his 14,004 receiving yards is third in NFL annals to only Jerry Rice (22,466) and Tim Brown (14,734). Lofton played in 233 games during his Hall of Fame career.

Lofton entered the NFL in 1978 as a first-round draft pick (sixth overall) of the Green Bay Packers. He spent nine seasons (1978-1986) in Green Bay before moving to Los Angeles to play for the Raiders during the 1987-88 seasons.

In 1989, Lofton signed with Buffalo, where he spent the next four seasons (1989-1992). In Buffalo, Lofton was part of three AFC Championship teams and played in three Super Bowls following the 1990, '91 and '92 seasons.

In 1993, Lofton played one game for the Los Angeles Rams and nine games with the Philadelphia Eagles before retiring after the '93 season. It was with Philadelphia that Lofton became the first player in NFL history to eclipse 14,000 receiving yards.

Lofton's finest NFL seasons came in 1983 and '84 with the Packers. In '83, he caught 58 passes for 1,300 yards and eight touchdowns, leading the NFL with an average of 22.4 yards per catch. The following year, he caught 62 passes for 1,361 yards and seven scores for an average of 22.0 yards per catch, also tops in the NFL.

Lofton joined the Chargers after spending eight years in broadcasting. From 1994-96, he was an analyst for CNN's NFL Preview Show. In 1997, he spent a year as an analyst on NFL games for NBC. In 1998, he returned to CNN as a studio analyst for CNN-SI's coverage of the NFL. He spent three years (1998-2001) as a game analyst on FOX Sports Net's broadcast of Big 12 football games while also doing NFL games for CBS Radio on Westwood One. From 1995-2001, Lofton worked as an analyst for the Carolina Panthers on the team's preseason telecasts.

Lofton was born July 5, 1956 in Fort Ord, California. He attended George Washington High School in Los Angeles and Stanford University. His career receiving totals at Stanford included 68 catches for 1,216 yards (17.9 avg.). In 1977, he set the school single-season record with 12 touchdown catches. He was a three-year letterman (1975-77) for the Cardinal in football. He also had an outstanding career in track and field at Stanford where he was a four-time All-America selection. In 1978, he won the NCAA Championship in the long jump. Lofton graduated from Stanford in 1978 with a bachelor's degree in industrial engineering.

Lofton has competed in Master's track and field events since 1997. He won the 2003 Pacific Association Championship in the 400 meters and posted the fastest time in the world in the 300 meters for the 45-49 year old division. In 2002, Lofton won the Western Regional Championship in the 400 meters and in 2001, he captured the long jump championship. Lofton also won the championship in the long jump at the World Master's Games in 1999. His first titles were in 1997 in the 200 and 400 meters, and the long jump at the Texas State Master's.

James and his wife, Beverly, have three children: sons David and Daniel, and daughter Rachel. David is a senior free safety at Stanford. Daniel is a senior and an all-league wide receiver and a two-time All-CIF performer in track at Westview High School. He was the CIF Division I Champion in the 400 meters in 2005. Rachel also attends Westview High School where she is a freshman and competes in soccer and track.

GREG MANUSKY

Linebackers
17th NFL Season, 4th with Chargers

Under the direction of Greg Manusky, the linebackers proved to be one of the Chargers' most polished units in 2004.

The Chargers finished the season ranked third in the NFL against the run and for the third year in a row, Donnie Edwards led the team with 151 tackles. He also led the squad with five interceptions and 14 passes defensed. Newcomers Steve Foley and Randall Godfrey each played prominent roles with Foley leading the team with 10 sacks and Godfrey leading the squad with eight tackles for loss, while ranking third with 87 tackles.

Manusky entered the coaching ranks in 2001 when he accepted a position as linebackers coach with the Washington Redskins. Marty Schottenheimer was the head coach in the nation's capital.

Manusky ended a 12-year playing career in 1999 that included stops in Washington (1988-1990), Minnesota (1991-93) and Kansas City (1994-99). In 1991, he was selected to the All-Madden Team.

Manusky was known for being a hard-nosed workhorse and a demon on special teams. Those characteristics enabled him to play in 113 consecutive games during his career, a streak that spanned more than seven seasons.

In each of his six seasons in Kansas City, Manusky was either the team's leading tackler or was tied for the team lead in tackles on special teams.

After retiring from the NFL in 1999, Manusky spent the 2000 season as a volunteer at the Tampa Bay Buccaneers training camp where he worked with the linebackers and special teams units.

As a collegian, Manusky was a four-year letterman and an All-Colonial League selection at Colgate University. As a senior, he was named the league's defensive player of the year. Manusky graduated with degrees in education and geology.

CARL MAUCK

Offensive Line

34th NFL Season, 5th with Chargers

On January 26, 2005, Marty Schottenheimer reached back to the past to bring veteran NFL coach Carl Mauck to San Diego to oversee the Chargers' offensive line. A former Chargers player and coach, Mauck inherits a group that opened holes and created running lanes for the NFL's sixth-ranked rushing attack in 2004. The group also allowed only 21 sacks, fourth-fewest in the league.

Mauck is a veteran of 33 seasons in the National Football League, including 13 as a player and 20 as an offensive line coach. Mauck coached the Chargers' offensive line from 1992-95 and San Diego appeared in the playoffs following three of those four seasons, including Super Bowl XXIX following the '94 season. In addition to coaching in San Diego, Mauck also played for the team from 1971-74.

Mauck spent the 2001-03 seasons with the Detroit Lions. During his last two seasons in Motown, the Lions allowed the fewest sacks in the NFL, surrendering 20 sacks in 2002 and only 11 in 2003.

Mauck's first NFL coaching stint was with the New Orleans Saints from 1982-85. Since then, he has served with the Kansas City Chiefs (1986-88), Tampa Bay Buccaneers (1991), Chargers, Arizona Cardinals (1996-97), Buffalo Bills (1998-2000) and Lions.

As a player, Mauck's career spanned 13 seasons from 1969-1981. He played in 166 career regular-season games, including a stretch of 156 in a row. He also played in eight career playoff games, including back-to-back AFC Championship Games for Houston in 1978 and '79.

Mauck's playing career started with the Baltimore Colts in 1969 and the Miami Dolphins in 1970. He spent the 1971-74 seasons with the Chargers before finishing his career with the Houston Oilers from 1975-1981. Chargers defensive coordinator Wade Phillips was an assistant coach with the Oilers during Mauck's playing tenure, and his father, Bum Phillips, was the head coach. Bum Phillips was also an assistant coach in San Diego when Mauck played for the Chargers. Carl would later coach on Wade Phillips' staff in Buffalo.

Mauck was born July 7, 1947 in McLeansboro, Illinois. He prepped at Township High School before earning a scholarship to Southern Illinois University where he played center and linebacker. He also played basketball as a freshman, lining up alongside future NBA great Walt Frazier. Mauck graduated from Southern Illinois in 1969 with a degree in business management. He was later enshrined in the University's Hall of Fame. Carl and his wife, Vicki, have four children: Tim, Chrissy, Teresa and Cathy. Chrissy is the Web site editor for the Arizona Cardinals.

WAYNE NUNNELY

Defensive Line

11th NFL Season, 9th with Chargers

One of the longest tenured coaches in team history, Wayne Nunnely has done an outstanding job with the Chargers' defensive line. The 2004 season was no exception as Nunnely's charges anchored a defense that ranked third in the NFL against the run and allowed only 81.7 yards per game. It was the third-lowest figure in team history. The Bolts held their opponents to just 3.7 yards per carry in '04, sixth-lowest in the league.

Nunnely has been a coach with the Chargers for nine consecutive years, dating back to 1997. He and Dave Levy (1980-88) have the fourth-longest consecutive run as assistant coaches in team history. Earnel Darden has the longest run, coaching for 13 straight years from 1974-1986.

Nunnely is also tied as the fifth-longest tenured coach in team history with Levy and Ernie Zampese, who coached in San Diego for nine years in 1976 and from 1979-1986. Darden is the longest tenured coach in team history with his 13 seasons.

During Nunnely's nine seasons in San Diego, the Chargers have featured five of the top ten rushing defenses in team history. That includes 1998 when the defense allowed only 71.3 yards per game, best in the NFL and the lowest in team history.

During the same time period, San Diego's defense held opponents to four of the five lowest yards per carry averages in team history. In 1998, the defense led the NFL and set a team record by holding its opponents to just 2.7 yards per carry. It was the lowest average allowed by any team in the league since 1951. The Bolts also led the league in yards per carry against their defense in 1999 (3.1) and 2001 (3.3). They ranked second in the NFL in 2000 (3.0).

Nunnely spent two seasons (1995-96) as the New Orleans Saints defensive line coach. Both years, New Orleans' defense ranked in the top five in the NFL in sacks. Nunnely worked at the Saints training camp in 1994 as part of the NFL's Minority Coaching Fellowship program.

Nunnely spent nearly 20 years as an assistant coach, head coach and administrator on the college level. From 1993-94, he was the defensive line coach at UCLA where he helped the Bruins to a Pac-10 championship and the Rose Bowl in 1993. He also spent two seasons (1991-92) as the running backs coach at USC.

Nunnely's first job as a coach was at Valley High School in Las Vegas, Nevada, in 1975. He began his collegiate coaching career as a graduate assistant at his alma mater, the University of Nevada-Las Vegas, in 1976. His initial full-time job came at Cal Poly-Pomona, where he coached the running backs in 1977 and the defensive line in 1978. Nunnely moved to Cal State-Fullerton for one season (1979), where he coached the defensive line. He then went on to the University of the Pacific (1980-81), coaching running backs, before returning to UNLV (1982-85), where he served as running backs coach and helped the Rebels win their first PCAA and California Bowl championship in 1984.

In 1986, Nunnely was named head coach at UNLV, a post he manned for four seasons. At the time of his appointment, he was the first African-American head coach on the West Coast and only the fifth in NCAA Division 1-A history. In 1988, he and Cleve Bryant of Ohio University became the first African-American head coaches in NCAA Division 1-A history to coach against one other, with Nunnely's UNLV squad coming out on top, 26-18. In 1990, Nunnely served in the administration at UNLV as the Director of Minority Student Affairs. While in Las Vegas, the school's faculty named him Most Outstanding Male Physical Educator.

Nunnely played fullback and lettered in track at UNLV for two seasons (1972-73). He earned a bachelor's degree in physical education.

Nunnely was born March 29, 1952 in Los Angeles, California. He played football, basketball and track at Monrovia High School in Monrovia, California. Wayne and his wife, Velda, live in San Diego. He has four children: sons Channing, Aaron and Steven, and daughter Amber.

BRIAN SCHOTTENHEIMER

Quarterbacks

7th NFL Season, 4th with Chargers

Tutored by Brian Schottenheimer, Drew Brees became the Cinderella story of the NFL in 2004, earning a trip to the Pro Bowl and NFL Comeback Player of the Year honors. He passed for 3,159 yards, threw 27 touchdowns, completed 65.5 percent of his passes and threw only seven interceptions. Drew set a team record with a 104.8 passer rating. Following the season, Drew showed his appreciation to Schottenheimer by inviting him and his wife, Gemmi, to accompany him to Honolulu for the Pro Bowl.

The 2004 season was filled with highs and lows for Schottenheimer. Before the season began, he traveled to Minnesota where he underwent surgery for thyroid cancer. Completely recovered, he trekked through the season as the Chargers closed in on their first division title since 1994. In November, as the Chargers boarded a plane for a critical late-season game in Kansas City, Brian stayed in San Diego to be with his wife for the birth of his first child, a son named Sutton. Now the couple is expecting their second child in November 2005.

Between coaching and family life, Brian found time to start a Bible study program for the Chargers coaches. He founded the program with the team's chaplain, Pastor Shawn Mitchell.

A former quarterback at the University of Florida, Brian is the son of Chargers head coach Marty Schottenheimer. He worked for his dad on two previous occasions, as quarterbacks coach in Washington in 2001 and offensive assistant/quality control coach for the Kansas City Chiefs in 1998.

Brian made his NFL coaching debut in 1997 as an assistant to the offensive coaching staff for the St. Louis Rams.

He also gained two years of coaching experience at the collegiate level, guiding tight ends at the University of Southern California in 2000 and the wide receivers at Syracuse in 1999.

During a three-year playing career (1994-96) at the University of Florida, Schottenheimer saw action in 20 games. He completed 25 of 38 passes for 290 yards with two touchdowns and one rushing score. As a senior in 1996, he played behind Heisman Trophy winner Danny Wuerffel on the Gators' NCAA National Championship squad. Schottenheimer began his collegiate career at the University of Kansas in 1992 and transferred to Florida so he could learn the intricacies of the passing game from then-Florida head coach Steve Spurrier. He graduated from Florida with a degree in sports management in 1997.

Schottenheimer was born Oct. 16, 1973 in Denver, Colorado. Brian attended Blue Valley High School in Overland Park, Kansas, leading the school to a 12-0 record and the Kansas 5A State Championship as a senior.

CLARENCE SHELMON

Running Backs

15th NFL Season, 4th with Chargers

Clarence Shelmon has made his mark as one of the top running back coaches in the National Football League, producing seven Pro Bowl rushers in the past 14 seasons.

His outstanding run of churning out all-star runners continued in 2004 when LaDainian Tomlinson went to his second-career Pro Bowl following a 1,335-yard season. Tomlinson carried the ball into the end zone 17 times to lead the league. He also rushed for a touchdown in 12 straight games, an NFL single-season record.

Tomlinson's back-up, Jesse Chatman, proved just as able, averaging 6.0 yards per carry. Chatman logged 65 carries for 392 yards and three scores. As a team, the Chargers rushed for 2,185 yards.

In Shelmon's first two seasons with the Chargers, Tomlinson posted the top two rushing seasons in team history. In 2003, he rushed for 1,645 yards. He also led the NFL with 2,370 yards from scrimmage, second-most in league history, and became the first-ever player to rush for more than 1,000 yards and catch 100 passes in the same season. In 2002, Tomlinson rushed for a team-record 1,683 yards and was selected to his first-career Pro Bowl.

Shelmon's unique coaching techniques include a ball-control drill that involves running to three different cones with a football attached to a giant bungee cord.

Prior to his arrival in San Diego, Shelmon spent four seasons (1998-2001) as the running backs coach for the Dallas Cowboys, where he worked with Tomlinson's idol, Emmitt Smith, who played in Pro Bowls following the 1998 and '99 seasons. During Shelmon's tenure, Smith accumulated 4,953 yards and in 2002 became the NFL's all-time leading rusher, moving past Walter Payton. Smith rushed for 1,000 yards or more in each of his four seasons under Shelmon.

Shelmon was the running backs coach for the Seattle Seahawks from 1992-97. During that time, the Seahawks finished among the NFL's top five in rushing four out of six seasons. Shelmon helped running back Chris Warren, the Seahawks all-time leading rusher, become a four-time 1,000-yard rusher (1992-95) and earn three trips to the Pro Bowl.

Shelmon began his NFL coaching career in 1991 as the running backs coach for the Los Angeles Rams.

He made the jump to the NFL coaching ranks after spending four seasons as an assistant coach at the University of Southern California, including two as running backs coach (1987-88) and two more (1989-1990) as the Trojans' running game coordinator. During Shelmon's tenure, the Trojans made three consecutive Rose Bowl appearances, including a victory over Michigan in 1990. Shelmon also coached running backs at the University of Arizona from 1984-86.

Shelmon started his coaching career as a graduate assistant at Houston from 1975-76. Following a year of coaching at Carroll High School in Corpus Christi, Texas in 1977, Shelmon spent three seasons at Army (1978-1980), where he coached tight ends and running backs. He then moved to Indiana University for three seasons (1981-83) as running backs coach.

Shelmon was born on Sept. 17, 1952 in Bossier City, Louisiana. He graduated from Airline High School and played collegiately at the University of Houston. He lettered twice as a running back. Shelmon graduated from Houston with a bachelor's degree in education. He also attended Long Island University where he worked toward a master's degree in guidance and counseling.

In 1999, Shelmon and his wife, Nancy,

ADMINISTRATION

JIM STEEG

Executive Vice President – Chief Operating Officer

Jim Steeg, the man responsible for turning the Super Bowl into the world's premiere sporting event, was named executive vice president and chief operating officer for the San Diego Chargers on Nov. 15, 2004.

In addition to overseeing all business operations for the Chargers, his responsibilities include the development of a new, Super Bowl-caliber stadium for San Diego. Over the years, he has worked hand-in-hand with communities across the country developing stadiums to play host to the Super Bowl.

In his 30 years with the NFL, including 26 in charge of the league's Special Events Department, the Super Bowl grew from a championship football game to a four-day extravaganza that emphasizes the participation and inclusion of the local game-site community at the business, educational and charitable levels.

Steeg was responsible for all aspects of the Super Bowl including stadium build-out and operations; practice-site preparation; pregame and halftime shows; national anthem performers; team, media, corporate and fan accommodations; corporate hospitality; television broadcasting; telecommunications; transportation; security; logo design; decorations and signage; ticketing; the NFL Experience; the NFL Commissioner's Party and the Super Bowl Concert Series. He also oversaw the local community Super Bowl Host committee.

During his Super Bowl tenure, Steeg implemented many of the Super Bowl signature game-day-related elements that eventually became staples throughout professional and Olympic sports. This included the use of Jumbotron video screens, enhanced audio-TV broadcasts throughout the stadium, individual radios featuring the national TV and radio broadcasts at every seat, entertainment plazas throughout the stadium and parking lots, an expansive corporate hospitality village, parking lot and transportation innovations, environmental recycling, ADA enhancements, media interview and workroom areas/services, children's clothing shops in the stadium, all-encompassing stadium and hotel and host city decorations. His innovations also include in-stadium promotions, like individual stadium seat cushion give-always, special pro football trading cards, panoramic cameras and other collectibles, and unique stadium collection and locker room-only merchandise.

Steeg was the driving force behind the league-sponsored Super Bowl charitable events off the field, raising more than $50 million dollars for the host communities over the past 20 years. These events impact thousands of children, thanks to programs like the NFL's Youth Education Town (YET) Center, the NFL Youth Football Clinic, the NFL Cheerleading Spirit Clinic, the Super Bowl College Lecture Series, "The Taste of the NFL," Habitat for Humanity's "Super Bowl Blitz," "Gridiron Glamour" and the NFL Charities Golf Classic.

He also launched and championed the Super Bowl Minority and Women-Owned Emerging Business Program in the early 1990s, mandating that, whenever possible, the league and its various vendors and corporate clients work with local minority- and women-owned businesses. It was the only all-encompassing emerging business program in professional, collegiate and Olympic sports.

Beyond his Super Bowl duties, Steeg, whose title was senior vice president, Special Events for the NFL, was in charge of a 26-member department. His duties included the Pro Bowl in Honolulu, the NFL Draft, the NFL's entire postseason schedule, the NFL-Sr. PGA Tour golf tournament, NFL Owners' and all other League meetings and all of the made-for-TV NFL events. These include "The Quarterback Challege," "The Ultimate Defender," "The Pro Bowl Skills Challenge" and "The Alumni Beach Challenge." Steeg was the NFL's chief liaison to the Pro Football Hall of Fame in Canton, Ohio, as a board of directors member and helped choreograph all of the Enshrinement Weekend events.

From 1990-95, Steeg organized the American Bowl Games in Berlin, Germany and Barcelona, Spain. He headed the NFL's league-wide 75th Anniversary celebration in 1994 and "Pro Football's Greatest Reunion" in Canton, Ohio in 2000. He also planned and executed the closing of Times Square in New York and the Mall in Washington D.C., for the season Kickoff Celebrations in 2002 and 2003, respectively.

He is a recent member of the San Diego Chamber of Commerce Executive Committee. He has been a longtime board member of Wake Forest University's Babcock Graduate School of Management, the George B. Young Memorial Scholarship Committee, Hunger Related Events and the NFL Youth Education Towns in Houston, New Orleans and Miami.

Prior to joining the league office in New York in 1979, Steeg was the business manager/controller for the Miami Dolphins (1975-78).

CHARGERS IN THE COMMUNITY

CHARGERS COMMUNITY SPIRIT

For the past 45 years the Chargers have been responsible for contributing or raising millions of dollars for worthy causes.

The Chargers Community Foundation is celebrating its 10th year and continues its generosity to citizens of all ages. Through the foundation, the Spanos family and the Chargers contribute to the community and make a lasting impact on the future.

Through the team's Chargers Champions initiative, more than $2 million has been awarded to local youth and schools during the last six years to improve physical fitness in San Diego County. The program awarded more than $400,000 in scholarships, grants and computers to San Diego schools and students in 2005. For the fourth year in a row, this contribution ranked as the largest privately-funded education gift in San Diego County. The Chargers Champions continues to honor students for their outstanding leadership, service and commitment to their schools and communities. San Pasqual Academy, a residential high school for foster teens, received the largest grant of $75,000 iin 2005, to improve the existing football program and create an athletic program budget.

When wildfires ravaged the county in 2003, Alex Spanos and the Chargers rallied behind the community. Spanos donated $1 million to aid the recovery efforts and collected an additional $500,000 for the San Diego Fire Relief Fund.

Long-standing community events like the Chargers Annual Blood Drive, which celebrates its 27th anniversary in 2005, combined with newer projects like The Festival of Wishes, has helped raise thousands of dollars and provided the needed resources for the citizens of San Diego. The team also has a lengthy history with Children's Hospital, and the players are active participants in many events including the Annual Teddy Bear Drive and the Chargers Toss for Tots program, which raises funds for the hospital through The Brooke Humphries Fund, also created by the Chargers.

During the holiday season, the Chargers and their fans partner with the San Diego Food Bank to provide food for thousands of hungry families. The team and its fans also participate in the annual Toys for Tots toy drive at the stadium.

There is an endless list of Chargers who have helped to make San Diego a better place to live. Former players Rolf Benirschke, Junior Seau, Dan Fouts, Stan Humphries and John Carney have made outstanding contributions to the San Diego community. Benirschke pioneered the concept of athletes establishing charitable foundations and serves as the honorary chairman for the Crohn's and Colitis Foundation of America. The Junior Seau Foundation has given San Diego children ongoing support in the form of scholarships and financial aid for over 13 years.

LaDainian Tomlinson, Drew Brees and Donnie Edwards are only a few of the many current Chargers that dedicate time and resources to make a generous impact on San Diego. The Donnie Edwards Best Defense Foundation supports the Boy Scouts, the Boys and Girls Clubs, Governor Schwarzenegger's "After School All-Stars" and the fight against childhood obesity. The Tomlinson's Touching Lives Foundation seeks out worthy causes and sponsors the LT School is Cool Scholarship Fund, as well as the 21 Club. Drew Brees established the Brees Dream Foundation in 2003 with the hope of one day finding a cure for cancer while helping improve the quality of life for patients with cancer. Another focus of the foundation is promoting the progress, success and education of youth through scholarship programs. Several current players host golf tournaments to raise funds for local charities.

During the season, the players devote their off-day to the community and meet as many appearance requests as possible. Combined with the many player foundation contributions, the team is able to make an enormous impact on San Diego.

THE CHARGERS COMMUNITY FOUNDATION BENEFITS SAN DIEGO

Through its charitable arm—The Chargers Community Foundation—the Chargers provide grants, scholarships and monetary resources to nonprofit organizations throughout San Diego County. Since its creation by Alex Spanos in 1995, the foundation has been a leader in assisting San Diego schools, supporting youth sports and aiding critical causes important to our community. The foundation has invested millions of dollars to assist with a wide range of programs and services. Its largest ongoing program— Chargers Champions—was created in 1999 to help San Diego County's schools and students.

The foundation also honors one San Diegan each year with the Community Quarterback Award. The Chargers make a sizable donation to a nonprofit organization in the recipient's honor, while semi-finalists are awarded grants for their respective nonprofit organizations. Candidates can be nominated on the team's official Web site, Chargers.com.

The Junior Charger Girls are another part of the Chargers Community Foundation. It is designed to promote self-esteem, community awareness and fun among young women ages 7-15. They learn from the NFL's best and help raise money to benefit thousands of San Diegans in need. The Junior Charger Girls annually perform during halftime for Chargers fans in Qualcomm Stadium and participate in clinics taught by the San Diego Charger Girls.

CHARGERS CHAMPIONS TOPS $2 MILLION IN 2005

Chargers Champions, the foundation's major grant program, just completed its sixth year of providing scholarships and grants to San Diego students and schools. Created by Alex and Dean Spanos, the program has awarded more than $2 million dollars in grants and scholarships to 126 students, 46 educators and 42 schools since its inception. In 2005, 16 high school juniors were selected from throughout the county to receive $7,000 tuition scholarships and laptop computers, courtesy of Sony. The students were chosen based on their outstanding leadership, service, citizenship and commitment to their schools and communities.

The largest component of the Chargers Champions program continues to be its focus on improving physical fitness in San Diego County schools by providing grants for athletic and nutrition programs on area campuses. Nine schools received grants during 2005 for a grand total of more than $260,000 to improve student health.

To assist with the selection process, Chargers Champions solicits the assistance of key business, community and educational leaders to serve on the Chargers Champions Leadership Team. The selection committee also receives assistance from the County Office of Education, the California Interscholastic Federation and instructors and administrators from the highly successful San Diego County AVID program.

PUBLIC SAFETY BENEFITS FROM CHARGERS COMMUNITY FOUNDATION

Many of San Diego's public safety divisions also have benefitted from the Chargers generosity. The Chargers support the many men and women who keep us safe and secure and are happy to assist when they can.

Over the years, this support has reached out to many different organizations. The Chargers donated funds to help the La Mesa Police Department buy of a mobile command unit; sponsored the annual Law Enforcement Officer of the Year Gala, which honored outstanding men and women in law enforcement from around the county; donated funds to the Ocotillo Wells Fire Department to replace a truck destroyed in the 2003 wildfires, and recently purchased a $26,000 horse trailer so the San Diego Police Department's Mounted Patrol could more effectively utilize its horses for crowd control and safety.

In the wake of the October 2003 wildfires that ravaged San Diego County, the Chargers donated more than $1 million to the San Diego Fire Relief Fund.

The 2003 San Diego County wildfires made it clear that many agencies lacked necessary life saving equipment.

"We found ourselves in need of many types of equipment we didn't have, and Mr. Spanos and the Chargers family came forward and said to us, 'We want to do something to help,'" said Fire Chief Jeff Bowman. "One of the first things we identified was the need to improve what we refer to as web gear. The materials enable our firefighters to go into battle in these wild land fires with all the safety equipment they need to do their job."

Responding to the Chargers' offer, the fire and police departments requested and received grants totaling more than $400,000 to purchase much-needed safety equipment and facilities upgrades. The Chargers donated a total of $279,792 to the San Diego Fire Rescue Department to provide web gear and life-saving fire shelters for the men and women of the fire department. The Chargers also donated $128,763 to upgrade the San Diego Police Department's Emergency Central Command Center, enabling faster and more reliable communication between officers in emergency situations, as well as a more efficient deployment of resources.

The San Diego Chargers are proud to partner with those who put aside their own personal safety every day to help keep San Diego citizens safe.

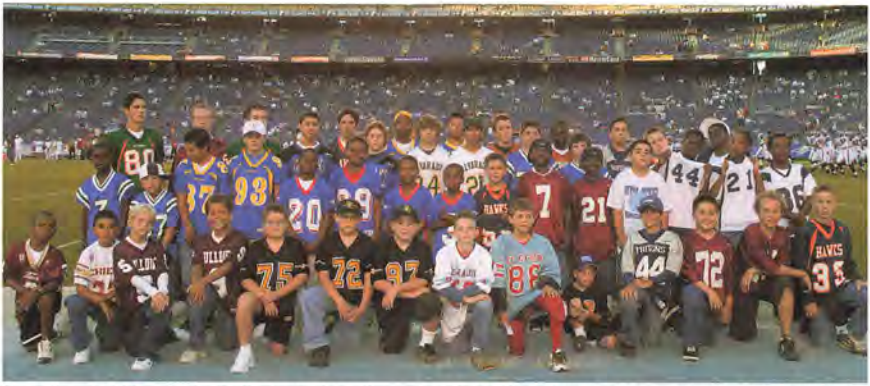

With the help of Dean Spanos, the San Diego Police Department unveiled its new horse trailer in May 2005.

CHARGERS ON-GOING SUPPORT FOR AREA SPORTS

The Chargers have a history of supporting athletics in San Diego. Whether it is sponsoring the county's Middle School Track and Field Championships, the USA Water Polo Holiday Cup or the Senior Olympics, the Chargers are proud to be able to give area residents and visitors the chance to enjoy the great spirit of competition.

GIVING KIDS A CHANCE TO PLAY

Imagine getting the opportunity to stand on the sideline for the national anthem at a Chargers' home game with Head Coach Marty Schottenheimer and your favorite players. Or imagine getting to scrimmage on the field at Qualcomm Stadium in front of 60,000 cheering fans. The Chargers have made this possible for many of San Diego County's young football players.

More than 1,000 youth football players from throughout San Diego County took part in Play Football Week festivities in August 2004.

At the Aug. 21 game against St. Louis, more than 1,000 local youth football players will line the field to watch the pregame festivities and stand with the players on the sideline for the national anthem. It will be a day none of them will soon forget!

KIDS PLAYING ON THE BIG FIELD

The Chargers' Annual Youth Football Day at Qualcomm Stadium is another celebration of the Chargers continuing commitment to the development of youth football in San Diego County. As part of the celebration in 2004, the Valley Center Attacking Jaguars competed against the Poway Ruff Riders, and the Baja Dolphins took on the Grossmont/La Mesa Warriors for a scrimmage on the field at halftime in front of a sellout crowd at Qualcomm Stadium. All participants received lunch, special commemorative T-shirts and tickets to the game, courtesy of the San Diego Chargers and Outback Steakhouse. As part of their participation in Youth Football Day, donations were made to both of San Diego's youth football conferences by the Chargers Community Foundation.

JUNIOR CHARGERS TRAINING CAMPS

Even if you don't play on an organized team, you can have fun and participate in one of the Chargers free football skills camps held weekly during the season at recreation centers throughout the county. The Junior Chargers Camps, sponsored by Gatorade and in coordination with STAR/PAL—San Diego's Police Athletic League—provide boys and girls an opportunity to learn football and life skills from Chargers players and law enforcement officers. A project of the Chargers Rookie Club, these free, non-contact football camps are designed to teach children the basics of football, exercise and sportsmanship.

THE CHARGERS AND HIGH SCHOOL SPORTS

The Chargers are active supporters of high school sports in San Diego County. They support the CIF, the High School Sports Association of San Diego and the National Football Foundation.

Each year, San Diego County's best high school players are invited to play in the Alex Spanos All-Star Classic.

Few people realize that the Alex Spanos All-Star Classic is the longest-running high school all-star football game in California. This year the game will celebrate its 15th anniversary. The Chargers are proud to work with the High School Sports Association of San Diego to make this game possible.

Chargers in the Community, continued

Along with the All-Star Classic, the Chargers sponsor CIF San Diego Football championship games, which are played at Qualcomm Stadium. The Chargers are proud of their long partnership with the CIF and the opportunity it has provided for thousands of high school athletes to compete in a professional venue.

CHARGERS AND CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL GO HAND-IN-HAND

Since Alex Spanos arrived in San Diego, the Chargers have nurtured an ongoing relationship with Children's Hospital and Health Center. From the creation of the Brooke Humphries Fund to the introduction of the Toss for Tots program, Children's Hospital remains a top recipient of the team's support. The Brooke Humphries Fund was created by the Spanos family to honor Stan Humphries, his daughter, Brooke, and his family for their contributions to San Diego. A sizeable contribution was given to establish the "Brooke Humphries Field of Champions," a specially-designed area in the hospital that more than 25,000 orthopedic patients visit annually. The room is located on the first floor of the Children's Way Patient Care Pavilion near the hospital's reception area.

The fund also supports various programs and specialized technology so that Children's Hospital and Health Center can continue providing San Diego's children the medical care they need. In 1999, the Chargers and Children's Hospital strengthened their partnership by creating the "Toss for Tots" program. Fans sign up to make donations to Children's Hospital for each touchdown the Chargers score during the season. Top donors receive a special "behind the scenes" tours of Chargers Park. There is also a "Toss for Tots" Passing Challenge Booth, located near Gate K at all home games. For more information or to sign up for "Toss for Tots," visit www.chargers.com or log on to the registration site at http://www.kintera.org/site/lookup.asp?c=fpIOIRMFG&b=695093

CHARGERS COMMUNITY PROGRAMS ARE A TEAM EVENT

The Chargers are proud to sponsor numerous programs benefiting the San Diego community. Chargers players visit schools and libraries to read to children, mentor youth in after-school programs, travel to hospitals and convalescent homes to spend time with the sick and elderly, and sponsor youth groups at home games through the Community Corner. Many of these programs are long-standing traditions and are eagerly anticipated throughout the community each year.

CHARGERS BLOOD DRIVE CELEBRATES 27th ANNIVERSARY

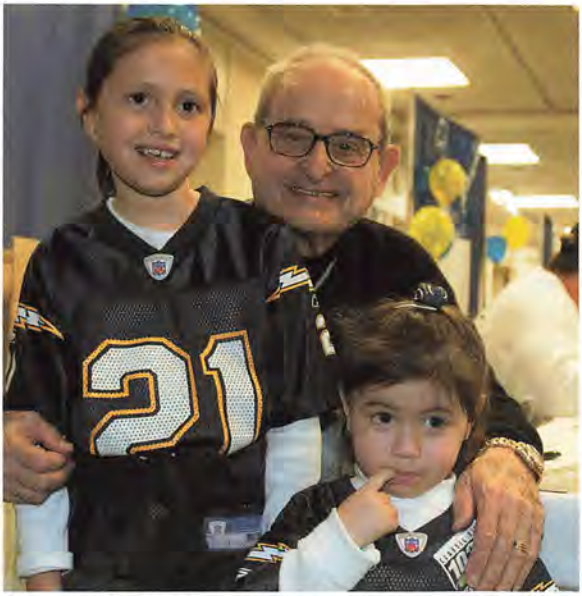

The Chargers' longest-running community event is the Blood Drive. Created in partnership with the San Diego Blood Bank, the Chargers Blood Drive helps provide an adequate blood supply during the holiday season. In 2005, the Blood Drive celebrates its 27th year. Throughout the years, more than 40,000 pints of blood have been collected to benefit San Diego's citizens.

Last year the team received a special commendation from California's First Lady, Maria Shriver, for our commitment to ensuring the health and well-being of San Diego County residents. The First Lady took time to donate herself—with the help of a few friends!

Under the direction of Susie Spanos, wife of team President Dean Spanos, the Chargers Blood Drive supports the Cord Blood Donor Program. This program encourages pregnant women to donate their umbilical cord upon delivery so the blood can be used to help save lives.

Donnie Edwards, Antonio Gates and Igor Olshansky are all smiles with California's First Lady, Maria Shriver, at the 2004 Chargers Blood Drive.

Owner Alex Spanos brings smiles to a couple of young Chargers fans at the 2004 Blood Drive.

The Chargers Blood Drive began as a call to help kicker Rolf Benirschke, one of the most popular players in team history. Rolf required more than 50 pints of blood during surgery for ulcerative colitis. The enthusiastic response to that blood drive was the genesis of the nationally-recognized program. Benirschke returns each year to join current players in greeting and assisting donors. The evening features a fashion show, starring Chargers players and their families, and a performance by the team's Time Out band.

CHARGERS COMMUNITY CORNER

For the past eight seasons, Dean Spanos and numerous players have teamed up with area non-profit agencies to send local youth to Chargers games. Tickets to each game are part of the Chargers Community Corner, which consists of field level seats at Qualcomm Stadium that are given to various San Diego youth organizations. Each child who attends a game in the Community Corner receives a T-shirt and a coupon for a free hot dog and soda. Because of the generosity demonstrated by Spanos and the players, thousands of San Diego's children have been able to experience the thrill of Chargers football.

GIVING BACK

Every spring, players don aprons and a good sense of humor to raise funds for STAR/PAL at the Celebrity Waiters Luncheon. In 2005, Donnie Edwards served as the honorary chair. He and his teammates sold silverware, sang songs and anything else they could think of to help raise funds for the program. The Chargers also team up with STAR/PAL during the season, hosting 12 football skills camps throughout the county that are free to attend.

STAR PAL

On Thursday evenings during the season, Chargers players, coaches and staff deliver hot soup and sandwiches to San Diego's homeless population in the downtown area. They also donate blankets and clothing.

In November, the Chargers will purchase food baskets to help more than 150 families prepare Thanksgiving dinner. The Spanos family and the players purchase the food and personally distribute it to deserving families throughout the county.

The Festival of Wishes will bring the magic of the holidays to children from low-income families in December. Keenan McCardell hosted the event in 2004, and each child's wish was fulfilled when they received toys and a backpack filled with school supplies, courtesy of the Chargers and Union Bank. The children also had a visit from Santa and, of course, lots of Chargers players.

Embarking on his 12th season in San Diego, David Binn is the longest-tenured player on the Chargers' roster. He has earned a reputation as one of the top long snappers in the league with pinpoint accuracy. Binn also is one of the league's most durable players, having missed only one game due to injury in 11 seasons.

Binn is an avid golfer whose handicap hovers in single-digits. He has been invited to compete in golf tournaments in San Diego and around the country. In 1999, Binn won a trip to Hawaii in a hole-in-one contest sponsored by a local golf venue.

Since his arrival in San Diego, Binn has been a supporter of the local military. In May 2003, he and linebacker Donnie Edwards visited the aircraft carrier USS Abraham Lincoln *at sea as the ship and its crew returned to San Diego from the war in Iraq. Aboard the ship, they were joined by President George Bush, who had also flown to the carrier to deliver a speech to the nation declaring an end to the hostilities in Iraq. In 2000, he received a special invitation to fly in an F-18 with the Navy's Blue Angels.

Throughout his NFL career, Binn has been one of the Chargers' most active players in the community. David Brandt is making the most of a second chance to play in the NFL.

A standout offensive lineman at the University of Michigan, Brandt took a year off from football in 2002 and returned to his hometown of Jenison, Michigan to work as a substitute teacher and assistant football coach. He was "burned-out" from football and needed to step away. A year of working with kids at his alma mater helped rekindle the fire.

Brandt is an avid outdoorsman who enjoys fishing, hunting and playing golf. He has a favorite fishing hole near White Cloud, Mich. where he grew up fishing for bass with his father and grandfather. His favorite hunt is deer, however the short deer season in Michigan, which overlaps the football season, has limited his hunting days.

David's sister, Julie Glass, is a world-class in-line skater and a former ice speed skater. She has captured more than 15 in-line world titles and is regarded by many as the world's top in-line skater.

David has become an accomplished craftsman over the last few years, working out of the garage at his home in Grand Rapids, Mich. His grandfather, LaVerne, a skilled wood-worker, taught him the trade. David has made several pieces of outdoor furniture.

DREW BREES

Quarterback
6-0, 209
5th NFL Season
5th with Chargers

Purdue
DOB: 1/15/79
Draft 2 - '01
Austin, Tex.

Drew Brees was the NFL's feel-good story in 2004. Brees silenced the critics and had a Pro Bowl season, leading the Chargers to a 12-4 record and their first AFC West title since 1994. He earned a host of awards following the season, the most notable being the Associated Press Comeback Player of the Year Award.

Brees was simply fantastic in 2004. He threw 27 touchdown passes and only seven interceptions. No quarterback in team history had ever finished a season with more than 20 touchdown passes and less than 10 interceptions. His 27 touchdown passes tied for third-most in a single season in team history, and they were the most in a single season by a Chargers quarterback since Dan Fouts threw 27 in 1985.

The only quarterbacks to finish the season with a better touchdown-to-interception ratio than Brees (3.86-to-1) were Indianapolis' Peyton Manning, who threw 49 touchdowns and 10 interceptions (4.9-to-1) and Philadelphia's Donovan McNabb, who threw 31 touchdowns and eight interceptions (3.88-to-1).

Brees set a team record and finished third in the NFL with a passer rating of 104.8. He became the first quarterback in team history to record a season passer rating over 100.0, easily surpassing the previous team mark of 93.6, set by Dan Fouts in 1982.

Brees' 2004 passer rating demonstrated a whopping 37.3-point improvement over his 67.5 rating of 2003. That increase was the greatest improvement from one season to the next by any quarterback in NFL history. Former Oakland Raiders signal-caller Ken Stabler previously held that distinction, increasing his rating 36.0 points, from a 67.4 rating in 1975 to a 103.4 rating in 1976.

Already the team record holder for career completion percentage (.613), Brees' completion mark in 2004 (.655) fell just shy of Mark Hermann's single-season completion percentage record (.657) set in 1985. Brees was especially accurate during a midseason stretch when he set a team record by throwing 194 consecutive passes without an interception. The streak began on Oct. 17 and didn't end until Dec. 5. In between picks, Brees played five full games and went 23 full quarters and 363 game minutes without throwing an interception.

That streak is all the more impressive when you consider that in 2003 his interceptions outnumbered his touchdown passes 15 to 11. In 2004, he threw just seven interceptions while tossing 27 touchdown passes. Brees threw just five interceptions in his last 364 pass attempts of the '04 season.

One of the areas that Brees showed the most improvement in 2004 was inside the "Gold Zone" (20-yard line). His 114.7 passer rating in the Gold Zone was second in the NFL behind Philadelphia's Donovan McNabb (118.0). Brees' 114.7 rating in 2004, when he completed 40 of 60 for 352 yards with 20 touchdowns and one interception, showed an increase of 64.7 points over his Gold Zone rating in 2003, when he was just 19 of 47 for 104 yards with four touchdowns and three interceptions for a rating of 50.0.

While Brees was extremely efficient in the passing game, he did discover that one of the quickest ways to put points on the board was with the deep ball. During a three-game stretch from Dec. 12-26, Brees threw the three longest touchdown passes of his career, all over 70 yards. He became the first quarterback in team history to throw a 70-yard touchdown pass in three consecutive games, and he was the first NFL quarterback to do it since Craig Morton of the Dallas Cowboys in 1970. Brees' longest was a 79-yard touchdown pass to Eric Parker against Tampa Bay on Dec. 12.

Brees also demonstrated a knack for the big finish in 2004. He ended the season as the NFL's third-leading passer in the fourth quarter, completing 49 of 78 for 642 yards with six touchdowns and one interception for a rating of 109.0. Brees was at his best on Nov. 28 at Kansas City when he completed all 11 of his fourth-quarter pass attempts for 163 yards and two touchdowns. This led the Chargers to a 34-31 win that ended a seven-game losing streak at Arrowhead Stadium.

Brees was equally adept converting on third downs in 2004. As a passer, he completed 72 of 117 for 872 yards with nine touchdowns and two interceptions for a rating of 102.9, which is fifth-best in the NFL. As a rusher, his number was called 11 times on third-down-and-one plays, and he converted all 11 times, tied for the highest percentage in the league.

When the dust of the season settled, Drew and his wife, Brittany, were able to enjoy the rewards that go along with a successful season. They attended the Pro Bowl, where Drew helped lead the AFC to a 38-27 victory. He brought along his quarterbacks coach Brian Schottenheimer and his wife, Gemmi, as well as tight end Justin Peelle and his wife, Sara. From Hawaii, the Brees' traveled to Australia for a three-week vacation. During the trip Down Under, they went diving on the Great Barrier Reef, played golf, went surfing, visited several wineries and attended a professional rugby match.

The Brees' enjoy traveling to exotic locales. In 2003, they honeymooned in Tahiti and last February, they spent two weeks in Africa where they rode on several safaris, went diving with great white sharks, attended a rugby match, toured African wineries and visited the jail where former South African President Nelson Mandela was imprisoned.

At home, Brees enjoys a wide range of sports including baseball and golf. A shortstop through high school, Drew has been invited to take batting practice with the San Diego Padres a couple of times. In June, he traveled to Omaha, Nebraska to watch his younger brother, Reid, play in the College World Series for the Baylor Bears. Reid was a senior in 2005 who played in the outfield and batted cleanup. It was Baylor's first trip to the CWS since 1978. On the links, Drew was invited to play in the 2005 Buick Open Pro-Am with John Daly and the Bob Hope Chrysler Classic Pro-Am with Jesper Parnevik. He also hosted a golf tournament in April 2005 at the Crosby National Golf Course in Rancho Santa Fe to benefit the Brees Dream Foundation. The tournament raised more than $100,000.

One of the events staged by his foundation was the Brees Gridiron Classic at Qualcomm Stadium last December. The one-day event featured four games between teams from Pop Warner and American Youth Football. Brees' foundation provided use of the stadium and took care of all of the costs associated with the event. In June, Drew hosted the Brees on the Seas Fishing for a Cure in which he took a group of kids who are terminally ill with cancer on a day-long ocean fishing trip in San Diego.

RECHE CALDWELL

Wide Receiver

4th NFL Season

Florida
DOB: 3/28/79
Draft 2B - '02
Tampa, Fla.

Reche (REE-Shay) Caldwell is ready to shake the injury bug once and for all.

After missing a portion of the 2003 season due to an assortment of injuries, Caldwell set out to get bigger and stronger. He worked with a local trainer and participated in the team's offseason workout program. A stringent regimen allowed him to add nearly 20 pounds to his frame as he bulked up to a solid 215 pounds. The extra weight was paying dividends and Caldwell was off to a solid start in 2004 when he suffered a knee injury during a routine play against the Atlanta Falcons in the Georgia Dome. The injury was serious enough that it required surgery and cost him the balance of the '04 season.

Aside from his work in the weight room, Caldwell has also worked on improving his hand-eye coordination. To stay sharp, he invested $1,700 to purchase a JUGS pass-catching machine for the back yard of his Chula Vista home. Reche often calls upon one of his friends in the neighborhood to stop by the house and feed balls into the machine so that he can work on his trade as a receiver.

Caldwell enjoys restoring classic cars. It is an interest he acquired growing up in Tampa, Florida. Caldwell owns five Chevy Impala classic cars: two 1972s (one convertible and one hard top) a '73, a '74 and a '96. Caldwell's other interests include basketball, movies and challenging his teammates in the latest video games.

Caldwell is the product of an athletic family. Reche played baseball through high school and was good enough to be drafted by the Cincinnati Reds in the 37th round following his senior year at Jefferson High School in Tampa, Florida. His younger brother, Andre, is also a talented athlete. Andre is a college junior who plays wide receiver and returns kicks at Reche's alma mater, the University of Florida.

In July, Reche married his longtime girlfriend, Sheron Patterson. He proposed in February while they were in Jacksonville, Florida for Super Bowl XXXIX.

TRANSACTION HISTORY: Second-round draft choice (48) by Chargers, April 20, 2002.

Jacques Cesaire (SEE-zair) proved that hard work pays off when he was inserted into the starting lineup for the final 13 games, including the playoffs, in 2004. That experience should pay dividends as he enters his third season with the Chargers.

Cesaire has four siblings and his Haitian-born parents are both nurses in his hometown of Gardner, Mass. Jacques' father, Carmy, had a bit of good fortune three years ago when he scratched a lottery ticket, only to discover that he had won $1 million. Despite their new-found wealth, both of Jacques' parents continue to work. He too has plans to continue working when his football-playing days come to an end. Jacques likes working with his hands and is planning to pursue a career in the construction field.

Jacques' interests include bowling, basketball, shooting pool, playing video games and spending time with his niece, Nadia.

Jacques' brother, Carmy, was the leading receiver as a senior in 2004 at Fitchburgh State, a Division III school in Fitchburgh, Mass.

JESSE CHATMAN

Running Back
5-8, 247
4th NFL Season
4th with Chargers

Eastern Washington
DOB: 9/22/79
Free Agent - '02
Seattle, Wash.

Jesse Chatman proved in 2004 that he could be a capable backup to All-Pro LaDainian Tomlinson. With LT slowed for much of the season by a nagging groin pull, Chatman was called upon and saw the most extensive action of his NFL career. His season average of 6.0 yards per carry ranked second in the NFL among the league's top 50 rushers.

Chatman joined the Chargers in 2002 as an undrafted free agent. His first training camp proved to be a tumultuous one, as twice he was called back to Spokane, Washington to be with his son, Sahvere, who was suffering epileptic seizures. Despite the condition of his son, Jesse ended the 2002 preseason as the NFL's rushing leader and Head Coach Marty Schottenheimer presented him with a game ball following a preseason contest against Seattle in which he had several long runs late in the game to preserve a 24-14 victory.

Throughout his career, Chatman has been a standout performer on special teams. In 2003, he tied for the team lead with 16 tackles and last season he ranked fifth with 10 stops.

Chatman enjoys spending time outdoors, whether it's a trip to the beach, a weekend of camping or going to a drive-in movie theater. He especially likes to watch movies from the front seat of his restored 1983 Chevy Cutlass Supreme.

Chatman follows an interesting ritual before every game. He wears an extra pair of socks inside-out underneath his game socks and puts his practice jersey underneath his game jersey as a reminder that he should play like he practices.

Maine
DOB: 6/19/79

Stephen Cooper was probably thought to be a long shot to make the team when he arrived in San Diego as an undrafted free agent in 2003, but now he is battling to be a starter at inside linebacker in the Chargers' 3-4 defense.

Cooper enjoys playing basketball and spending time with his son Koby and daughter Karis. He is the middle child in his family with two older sisters and a younger brother and sister. Stephen often returns to his native Wareham, Mass. to visit. While he's home, you can usually find him breaking a sweat on the basketball courts at Onset Beach.

Stephen is the first member of the Cooper family to graduate from college. He has already decided that when the time comes to hang up his football helmet, he would like to pursue a career in teaching and coaching.

SAMMY DAVIS

Cornerback
6-0, 195
3rd NFL Season
3rd with Chargers

Texas A&M
DOB: 4/8/80
Draft 1 - '03
Humble, Tex.

Sammy Davis is eager to bounce back after a trying year in 2004. He was replaced in the starting line-up in Week 7 at Carolina. It didn't last long however, as Drayton Florence was injured in that game against the Panthers and Sammy re-claimed his starting spot. He remained there until Week 12 in Kansas City when he suffered a hairline fracture in his left leg. The injury would essentially cost him the remainder of the season. Sammy attempted to play in the regular-season finale but he clearly was not 100 percent.

The Chargers' top choice in the 2003 NFL Draft, Davis started as a rookie. Last season he added some additional muscle to his frame to give himself a better opportunity to jam receivers at the line. Davis was dilligent in his workouts and added five pounds of muscle, up from the 190 he weighed as a rookie. He has maintained the extra weight.

Sammy has carved out another niche for himself as an inventor. Davis and a childhood friend, Chris Spencer, have invented two products, a car jack called the Safety Jack and a new piece of equipment for football players called the Hydration System. The Hydration System is a water bladder that attaches to the back of a pair of shoulder pads and holds up to 14 ounces of drinking water. There is a hose attached to the bladder which allows a player to take a drink of water during a game. Both products are patented and in the marketplace.

Davis has several hobbies, including playing basketball, fishing and listening to music.

Linebacker

10th NFL Season
4th with Chargers

UCLA
DOB: 4/6/73
UFA (Kansas City) - '02
Chula Vista, Calif.

Donnie Edwards had an All-Pro season in 2004 and certainly one worthy of Pro Bowl recognition. The Chula Vista native is hungry for even more as he embarks on his 10th NFL season and fourth with his hometown Chargers. He is coming off a season in which he led the team and ranked second in the NFL with 151 tackles. He also paced the squad with five interceptions, tied for the league lead among linebackers. With the Chargers 12-4 record and first division title in 10 years, it was a shock to many when he was left off the AFC Pro Bowl roster.

Edwards is just as worthy of All-Pro recognition off the field. Since returning to San Diego to play for the Chargers in 2002, Edwards has dedicated himself to providing for area youth. One of the first projects he committed to was the construction of a new weight room for his alma mater, Chula Vista High School. The $40,000 project included new weights, flooring, mirrors and commemorative keepsakes from Edwards' career. In 2003, Donnie was inducted into the school's Hall of Fame and in June 2000, his number was retired by the school. He has also been inducted into the Sweetwater Union School District's Hall of Fame, which recognizes excellence in all professional fields, including athletics.

Donnie is working to deliver his message about physical fitness countywide by creating a program called "Jump for Life." Its goal is to help tackle obesity. He serves as the executive commissioner of the San Diego chapter of the "After-School All-Stars," a program created by Governor Arnold Schwarzenegger to give inner-city youth positive alternatives to drugs, gangs and violence through after-school programs.

Every year around Father's Day, Edwards hosts "Dad's Day with Donnie" at Sea World. It is an opportunity for Edwards and other professional athletes to spend a day with kids who don't have a father figure in their lives.

DONNIE EDWARDS FOUNDATION
BEST DEFENSE

The founder of the "Donnie Edwards Best Defense Foundation," Edwards is actively involved with the Boy Scouts, the Boys and Girls Clubs, San Diego's Sharp Hospital and Read Across America. He serves on the San Diego Board of Directors for the Boy Scouts and carries the rank of Star Scout. Edwards was the honorary chairman for Scout Fair 2003. He has donated $12,000 for memberships, uniforms and camping trips for the South Bay Boy Scouts and $5,000 to the National City Boys and Girls Club.

Following his football career, Edwards would like to pursue a career in an NFL front office or in television. He has worked for the NFL Network as a studio anchor and sideline reporter. To further his education, Edwards is working toward a master's degree in education from UCLA. As part of the master's program requirements, he occasionally works in San Diego schools in an administrative capacity. He is a regular speaker at local schools, talking to kids of all ages about setting goals for the future and staying on course in the classroom. As a token of his appreciation to UCLA, Edwards made a financial contribution to help in the reconstruction of the school's football operations center, the Acosta Training Center. The improved facility features new locker rooms and meeting rooms along with a renovated weight room and sports medicine facility.

In the Spring, Donnie and his wife, Kathryn, visited the Italian countryside. The trip was especially memorable as they happened to be visiting the Vatican at the very moment that the white smoke was released from the Sistine Chapel's chimney announcing to the world that Pope Benedict XVI had been chosen to succeed deceased Pope John Paul II.

Donnie also visited Korea in the Spring. He is a partner in Litego, a fiber-optic apparel company based in Seoul. During his visit to Korea, Donnie visited the infamous DMZ with a retired Two-Star General from the Republic of Korea Army.

A military and war history buff, Edwards traveled to Europe in July 2003 to commemorate the 60th anniversary of D-Day. As part of the trip, he toured several World War II battlefields with veterans of the war. On his days off, Edwards often visits local military bases to speak with servicemen and women. He offers words of encouragement and shares his appreciation for the military, which grew from his grandparents, who served in World War II and the Korean War. Edwards has an extensive collection of military artifacts and souvenirs, including uniforms and helmets.

In 2001, Edwards was invited to fly in an F-18 with the Navy's Blue Angels. In April 2003, he and several teammates experienced being a Marine recruit for a day. In May 2003, he and teammate David Binn flew to the aircraft carrier USS Abraham Lincoln, spending two days on board with troops returning home from the war in Iraq. During their visit to the carrier, President Bush spent a night on board, and it was from the Lincoln that he delivered his speech to the nation declaring an end to hostilities in Iraq. Edwards had the opportunity to meet the President and was present on the deck of the carrier during the historic speech.

Edwards' other passions include reggae music, paintball, basketball and spending time at the beach with his three Labrador retrievers: Bear, Scout and Bess.

There is an interesting side-note to Edwards' career. He has been successful for nine NFL seasons despite being highly allergic to grass.

DRAYTON FLORENCE

Cornerback
6-0, 195
3rd NFL Season
3rd with Chargers

Tuskegee
DOB: 12/19/80
Draft 2A - '03
Ocala, Fla.

Drayton Florence began the 2004 season as the team's third cornerback, but when opportunity knocked, Drayton was inserted into the starting lineup before the team's October contest at Carolina. The promotion would be short-lived as Drayton turned an ankle early in the game against the Panthers and missed the next two starts. It wasn't until Davis suffered a hairline fracture in his left leg at Kansas City that Florence moved back into the starting 11. Drayton capitalized on his second opportunity to start, recording two interceptions in the final five games. He also made an outstanding defensive play in the end zone late in the Bolts' Dec. 5 game against Denver that resulted in an interception instead of a go-ahead touchdown.

One of the keys to Drayton's success is his offseason workout regimen. Aside from his work in the Chargers offseason conditioning program, Florence trains in Florida with All-Pro wide receiver Randy Moss at The Randy Moss Speed Academy. The workouts last two to three hours, five days a week in the heat and near 100 percent humidity. The last two years, he recruited wide receiver Kassim Osgood to join him at the academy.

He recently started the Drayton Florence Foundation to develop programs to help disadvantaged youth. Drayton hosted a golf tournament in July at the Black Diamond Golf Course in Florida as a fund-raiser for the foundation. The tournament coincided with the "Make it Happen" football camp, a youth camp that he held at his alma mater, Vanguard High School, in Ocala, Florida.

STEVE FOLEY

Linebacker
6-4, 265
8th NFL Season
2nd with Chargers

Louisiana-Monroe
DOB: 9/11/75
UFA (Houston) - '04
Little Rock, Ark.

The Chargers truly landed a diamond in the rough when they signed free agent linebacker Steve Foley in 2004. In his first season in San Diego, Steve was a continual thorn in the side of Chargers opponents. He led the team with a career-high 10 sacks. They were the second-most in the league among linebackers, and they were the most sacks in a season by a Chargers linebacker since Billy Ray Smith had 11 in 1986. Foley also set new career highs with two interceptions, five forced fumbles and 12 passes defensed. His 65 tackles left him just one shy of his career high. He tied his career high with two fumble recoveries.

In March, the Chargers rewarded Foley by signing him to a three-year contract extension through the 2009 season.

Foley grew up in Little Rock, Arkansas, the youngest of nine children. While away at college in Monroe, Louisiana, he grew up fast, becoming the father to two children. He says this opened his eyes to the world and helped him grow as a man.

Most of the year, Foley lives in his dream home in Houston, Texas. The house is complete with a theater room and a large aquarium that is home to eels, sharks and other fish. Houston is also where he keeps his dog, Red, a red-nosed pit bull.

One of Steve's best friends is professional boxer Jermain "Bad Intentions" Taylor, one of the top ranked middleweight fighters in the world. Steve and Jermain grew up in Little Rock. Jermain won a bronze medal at the 2000 Summer Olympics in Sydney, Australia and began his professional career with a record of 23-0 with 17 wins by knockout.

Foley's hobbies include golf, tennis, basketball, fishing, movies and classic cars. Steve and his dad, Robert, share a 1971 Cutlass Supreme that they restored together.

Nebraska
DOB: 11/26/81
Draft 2A - '02
Hauula, Hawaii

Had Drew Brees not had such a phenomenal year in 2004, people might very easily have mentioned the name Toniu Fonoti (TONE-u Foe-no-TEE) when discussing NFL Comeback Player of the Year.

After sitting out the 2003 season with a foot injury, Toniu returned to the field in 2004 more determined than ever. He started every game and finished the season as an All-Pro. Toniu's devastating blocks filled the highlight reels as he helped pave the way for the league's sixth-ranked rushing offense. As a unit, the Chargers offensive line surrendered only 21 sacks in 2004, fourth-fewest in the NFL.

Toniu began his professional career wearing number 71, but last year he switched to 77, the number he wore as a collegian at Nebraska.

A huge man on the field, Fonoti is otherwise a gentle giant. He is a devout family man who enjoys spending time with his wife, U'ilani, and the couple's daughter, Fetogi. Toniu wears a tattoo on his left arm bearing Fetogi's name. His younger brother, Taualai, is a senior outside linebacker at Stanford.

Ahmad Galloway joined the Chargers late in the 2004 season and spent time on the team's practice squad. In January 2005, he was allocated to NFL Europe and became one of the league's leading rushers as a member of the Frankfurt Galaxy.

Galloway started every game and was the Galaxy's leading rusher with 516 yards. He scored one touchdown on 141 carries and caught 10 passes for another 144 yards. He was named the NFLE Offensive Player of the Week on April 12 after rushing 31 times for a team-record 161 yards and a touchdown in a 23-14 win over Amsterdam. DOB: 6/18/80

Antonio Gates has emerged as one of the NFL's most amazing stories. Just three years removed from a trip to the "Elite 8" in the NCAA College Basketball Tournament, Gates has become a Pro Bowl tight end, an All-Pro and an NFL record holder.

In 2004, he led the team with 81 catches, 964 yards and 13 touchdowns and was voted to his first-career Pro Bowl. His 13 touchdown catches set a new NFL single-season record for tight ends and tied for the second-most in a season in team history. He finished the year ranked fourth in the NFL in touchdown catches.

Gates' 81 catches ranked fourth in the NFL among tight ends and his 964 yards on those catches were good for the third-highest total in the NFL among tight ends.

Gates earned the moniker of "Mr. Clutch," as he ranked second in the NFL with 30 third-down catches. His 30 catches on third down were good for 358 yards (fifth in the NFL) and six touchdowns (third in the NFL). In total, 55 of his 81 catches (.679) resulted in first downs.

When Gates signed with the Chargers in 2003, he had not strapped on a helmet or a pair of shoulder pads since his senior season at Central High School in Detroit. An up-and-down start to his collegiate basketball career sent Antonio bouncing to three different schools, including Michigan State, before he finally found a home at Kent State. In two seasons for the Golden Flashes, he helped lead the team to back-to-back conference championships and left the Kent, Ohio campus as the school's sixth all-time scorer.

Gates still follows college basketball religiously and he often participates in pickup games in the open gym at nearby San Diego State. This year, he attended his first-ever Final Four, traveling to St. Louis to cheer on the Spartans of Michigan State.

In June, Gates served as the honorary chairman for the Shoot to Cure HD, a free-throw shooting event that raised money for the Huntington's Disease Society of America.

RANDALL GODFREY

Linebacker

10th NFL Season

DOB: 4/6/73
UFA (Seattle) - '04

In 2002, Randall Godfrey pondered retirement after four seasons with Dallas and three with Tennessee. The bumps and bruises of the game had begun to take their toll. He decided he wasn't ready to leave the game and signed a one-year deal with the Seattle Seahawks. A 10-6 season with the Seahawks and a playoff berth again had Godfrey thinking about retiring. That was until a critical fourth-quarter play in an NFC Wild Card Playoff game when Packers running back Ahman Green escaped from Randall's grasp and scored a touchdown that would send the game into overtime where Green Bay would eventually win, 33-27. That play and that game left a bad taste in Randall's mouth. He wasn't ready to end his career on that note.

Godfrey signed a three-year deal with the Chargers in 2004. He stepped in as an inside linebacker in the team's new 3-4 defense, bringing leadership and experience. With Godfrey in the middle, the Chargers ranked third in the NFL against the run and went 12-4, earning their first playoff berth in 10 years. Godfrey led the team with eight tackles for loss and finished the year with 87 stops, third-most on the squad.

Randall also had another motivation for continuing to play the game. Last April, he was forced to deal with the untimely death of his cousin and former NFL wide receiver Brice Hunter. They were not only cousins, but teammates at the University of Georgia. Before his passing, they hosted an annual camp at Lowndes County High School in Georgia, raising more than $10,000 each year for Randall's foundation. In Brice's memory, Godfrey still hosts the camp with the proceeds being used to help at-risk youths. He also helps athletes who are planning to attend college to prepare for SATs and ACTs.

Randall now makes his home in San Diego, but still maintains close ties to his hometown of Valdosta, Georgia. He and his father are overseeing the construction of a 20,000-square-foot recreation center that will open in 2007 and feature a gym, indoor track and playground.

Randall and his cousin, Rodney, recently opened the Godfrey Funeral Home in Valdosta. Rodney had been in the business and convinced Randall that it was a good investment. The Godfreys help families with the necessary arrangements for funerals, including embalmings, viewings and memorial services.

Godfrey's hobbies include fishing and collecting sports memorabilia. Twice a year he and several family members travel to Panama City, Florida to go deep-sea fishing. His sports memorabilia collection includes more than 30 autographed jerseys. Randall and his wife, Rhonda, have three sons: Billy, R.J. and Grant. Randall owns a mini Doberman named Zeus and a Boxer named Tyson.

When Mike Goff signed with the Chargers in 2004, he stepped to the front of the room and assumed a leadership role on the offensive line. Goff took rookies Nick Hardwick and Shane Olivea under his wing. He opened his Pacific Beach home to second-year guard Kris Dielman and regularly hosted every member of the offensive line at his house for dinner. The camaraderie paid huge dividends as the unit gelled like few others in recent memory. The line opened holes and created running lanes for the NFL's sixth-ranked rushing attack. It protected the team's quarterbacks, allowing them to throw 29 touchdowns and just seven interceptions. As a unit, the offensive line surrendered only 21 sacks in 2004, the fourth-fewest in the league and the fewest by a Chargers squad since 1990.

Outside of football, Goff's hobbies include reading, movies, golf and fishing, but his favorite hobby is cooking. He learned to cook by watching The Food Network and enjoys having teammates over to the house to sample his many specialty dishes. Goff has mastered many culinary specialties, but lists among his favorites– creole tomato soup with croutons, stuffed jumbo shrimp with crabmeat dressing, lamb chops and pork Wellington.

When he's not slaving over a hot stove, Goff helps his father, Lyman, run a trucking business the two own in Columbus, Ohio. Their company hauls outdoor materials including dirt, gravel and asphalt.

Before being drafted by the Bengals in 1998, Mike posted score of 38 on Wunderlich intelligence test. It was the second-highest score among offensive linemen tested at the '98 NFL Combine.

Mike has gained some notoriety in San Diego. This year he was invited to be a celebrity judge at the dance team try-outs for the San Diego Riptide of ArenaFootball2.

Nick Hardwick, a prep wrestler-turned-offensive-lineman, became the starting center in training camp and helped shape the Chargers' offensive line into one of the league's best.

One of Nick's closest friends on the team has become tackle Shane Olivea. It's funny now, but Nick and Shane almost came to blows during training camp over a prank gone awry. But as teammates do, they put that incident behind them and forged a strong friendship. During the Chargers' bye week in 2004, Hardwick invited Olivea to travel with him to West Lafayette, Indiana to attend the Purdue-Ohio State game and the pair stayed with Boilermakers quarterback Kyle Orton. Of course, Hardwick attended Purdue and Olivea is an alumnus of Ohio State.

graduating from Sumter South High School in Bushnell, Fla., Hart put away his football helmet and shoulder pads. He enrolled at Central Florida Community College where he played baseball and was near his family. Hart's father and older brother are both incarcerated and Clinton wanted to stay close to home where he could be near his mother, Kathy, and help her raise his younger brother, Keanu. In many respects, it seems Hart was always destined to play football. During college, he used to bring a football to baseball practice to warm up his arm. The coaches teased him that he was playing the wrong sport.

In 2000, Hart had a tryout with the Tallahassee Thunder of AFL2 and made the team. In 2001, he played for the Tampa Bay Storm of the AFL. While playing for the Thunder in 2000, Hart made just $162 per week and endured bus rides of up to 20 hours. He enjoyed a breakout season with the Storm in 2001, earning AFL Rookie of the Year honors.

Hart's success in the Arena League landed him a contract offer from the Philadelphia Eagles in 2002. Once signed, he was allocated to NFL Europe where he played for the Rhein Fire and Amsterdam Admirals. Upon returning to the states, he went to training camp with the Eagles, but was released toward the end of camp. Philadelphia later signed him to their practice squad.

Hart's career took off in 2003. Back with the Eagles, he was called upon in midseason to replace injured Pro Bowl safety Brian Dawkins. Hart filled in admirably, leading the Eagles to a 7-2 mark in games that he started.

Hart has not forgotten his roots in Florida. He hosts a youth football camp and donates time and resources to the Webster Sports Complex in his hometown of Bushnell, Florida. Clinton receives help running the camp from his brother, Cedric, who is a wide receiver at Central Oklahoma, an NCAA Division II school. Clinton has always enjoyed working with kids. During and after his collegiate career at Central Florida Community College, he worked as a counselor and recreation specialist at the Marion Youth Development Center in Ocala, Fla.

One of Hart's favorite hobbies is watching DVDs of "Sanford and Son" and the movie "Rocky." He even keeps a statue of legendary fighter Rocky Balboa in his locker. Hart is also an accomplished barber and has a barber's license.

3rd with Chargers

Texas A&M
DOB: 11/24/80
Draft 2B - '03
Lufkin, Tex.

Terrence Kiel is grateful to be alive and still playing football.

Over the Fourth of July weekend in 2003, just a little more than two months after he was drafted in the second round by the Chargers, Terrence was the victim of a carjacking attempt in Houston. While parked at a local mall in the middle of the day, a would-be carjacker riddled his car with gunfire and Kiel was struck three times. Luckily none of the wounds were serious and he made a complete recovery.

Last season, Kiel started every game and finished the season as the team's second-leading tackler. His teammates recognized the effort and voted him the winner of the Ed Block Courage Award for principles of sportsmanship and courage. In March, Terrence was honored at a dinner in Baltimore, Maryland.

Following the ordeal, Kiel has spoken to kids about personal safety as he participated in the "Stranger Danger" program with the San Diego Sheriff's Department.

In his personal time away from the gridiron, Kiel enjoys listening to music and competing against friends in the latest video games.

BEN LEBER

Linebacker
6-3, 244
4th NFL Season
4th with Chargers

Kansas State
DOB: 12/7/78
Draft 3 - '02
Vermillion, S.D.

Ben Leber has been a three-year starter and a standout performer at outside linebacker.

Ben comes from an athletic family. His oldest brother Jason was an All-America running back at the University of South Dakota. In the summer, Jason would bring Ben to the Vermillion, South Dakota campus to lift weights with his college teammates. This experience helped pave the way for Ben's successful collegiate career at Kansas State.

Besides his brother, Ben's parents are a big inspiration in his life. His mother, Han, is from South Korea, and met Ben's father, Al, while he was stationed with the Army in Seoul.

In January, Ben had a chance to show his appreciation for the military when he and teammates Justin Peelle and Kris Dielman flew out to and spent a night aboard the nuclear-powered aircraft carrier USS Carl Vinson. The trip was arranged by Peelle, whose grandfather is a retired Navy captain. Aboard the ship, the players observed flight operations as F/A-18F Super Hornets and other Navy and Marine aircraft catapulted off the deck. They also toured the entire carrier and signed numerous autographs for the service per- sonnel stationed onboard. It was an experience of a lifetime for the players.

One of Ben's hobbies is golf. For the last two years, he's combined this hobby with an opportunity to support the San Diego Fire Department by serving as an honorary chairman for the San Diego Fire and Rescue Helicopter Golf Tournament. It takes place at the Maderas Golf Club in Poway. It is an important cause for Ben, his wife, Abby and the couple's two Great Danes, Moose and Belle, who were nearly evacuated from their Poway home during the wildfires that ravaged San Diego County in October 2003. The tournament raises money to buy much-needed fire and rescue helicopters for San Diego.

KEENAN McCARDELL

Wide Receiver
6-1, 191
14th NFL Season
2nd with Chargers

Nevada-Las Vegas
DOB: 1/6/70
Trade (Tampa Bay) - '04
Houston, Tex.

Keenan McCardell's arrival in San Diego was a blessing for Chargers fans. When Reche Caldwell went down with a season-ending knee injury just days before the trade deadline, Chargers General Manager A.J. Smith cut a deal with the Tampa Bay Buccaneers to bring McCardell to San Diego in exchange for third- and sixth-round choices in the 2005 NFL Draft. His experience as a Super Bowl Champion and a two-time Pro Bowler helped the Chargers make a late-season run and clinch their first division title since 1994. On March 9, McCardell signed a two-year contract extension with the Chargers to keep him in San Diego through 2007.

McCardell has a rather impressive NFL resume. With 755 career catches, he ranks 15th on the league's all-time receptions list and his 9,763 career yards ranks 25th. Keenan is a five-time 1,000-yard receiver and has 26 career 100-yard receiving games. Not bad for a guy who was a 12th-round pick and was the 45th of 46 wide receivers chosen in the 1991 NFL Draft.

Keenan comes into the 2005 season riding a streak of 86 consecutive games with at least one catch. The last time he was held without a catch in a game was Dec. 20, 1998.

McCardell has earned a reputation as a durable player. Since 1995, he has missed only six games due to injury, including three last season when he sat out the final three weeks of the regular season with a strained hamstring. He returned to the starting lineup for the Chargers' Wild Card Playoff game against the Jets.

McCardell had a busy offseason after joining the Chargers. On May 24, his wife, Nicole, gave birth to the couple's fourth child, Keenan Wayne II. During the last few months of her pregnancy, Keenan took on the role of Mr. Mom, driving their three daughters to and from school, ballet lessons and gymnastics. In between, he managed to squeeze in a few rounds of golf at the Shadow Halk Golf Club in Houston where he plays to a 10 handicap.

In February, he was inducted into the Hall of Fame at his alma mater, Nevada-Las Vegas.

Keenan is an admitted video game junkie. In 2002, he won the Game Before The Game, sponsored by PlayStation at Super Bowl XXXVII. In 2003, he competed in the 989 Quarterback Challenge.

McCardell is one of the league's most active participants in community relations. He is the founder of the Touching Hands Foundation. It is based in Jacksonville, Florida, where he played from 1996-2001. In December 2005, he will host Keenan's Holiday Shopping Spree in San Diego, taking 10 underprivileged children on a shopping spree at a local toy store. He hosted similar events in Tampa Bay in 2002 and '03. The foundation also supports breast cancer awareness and education. He created a program that provides breast cancer screenings for women in low-income areas, and he annually awards college scholarships to high school juniors and seniors. In 2000, Keenan was the Jaguars' Walter Payton/NFL Man of the Year for his active role in the Jacksonville community. From 1997-2004 Keenan and Jaguars wide receiver Jimmy Smith co-hosted football camps in Jacksonville. In 2004, Keenan hosted a camp of his own at Eckerd College in St. Petersburg, Florida.

When his playing career comes to an end, McCardell plans to continue his work in the community. He has also expressed interest in a career as an investment banker or in the personnel department of an NFL front office. While playing in Jacksonville, Keenan spent two-and-a-half years as an intern at Merrill Lynch, learning about the investment banking industry.

Safety
6-3, 200
3rd NFL Season
3rd with Chargers

Houston
DOB: 11/3/79
Draft 6 - '03
Coconut Creek, Fla.

Hanik Milligan was a standout special teams performer in his first true season with the Chargers. As a rookie in 2003, Hanik turned heads in training camp before he suffered a torn pectoral muscle during a preseason game and ended up spending the season on the "Reserve-Injured" list. He was diligent in his rehabilitation, made a complete recovery and went on to tie for the team lead with 15 special teams tackles in 2004.

During his rehabilitation, Milligan participated in the "Stranger Danger" program with the San Diego Sheriff's Department. The program educates kids on personal safety issues.

Hanik is not the only professional athlete in the family. His brother, Hamin is a defensive specialist for the Dallas Desperados of the Arena Football League. Hanik was born in the Virgin Islands of the United States, where his father, a retired fireman, still lives. Milligan enjoys listening to music, reading the Bible, playing basketball and collecting sports memorabilia.

Lorenzo Neal sets the standard for fullbacks in the National Football League. A Pro Bowler in 2002 and a first-alternate the last two seasons, Neal has paved the way for eight-straight 1,000-yard rushers, including a 1,335-yard season for LaDainian Tomlinson in 2004. A veteran of 12 seasons in the league, Neal has distinguished himself with his durability, having played in 176 consecutive regular-season games dating back to the 1994 season. One of the keys to his longevity is a strict training regimen that includes boxing workouts with former IBF Junior Middleweight champion Paul Vaden. Neal has trained in the past with Jennifer Alcorn, a Lightweight World Champion in women's boxing. Lorenzo's brother, Eddie, is a professional boxer as well and has a record of 8-0 in the Heavyweight division.

ROMAN OBEN

Tackle
6-4, 305
10th NFL Season
2nd with Chargers

Louisville
DOB: 10/9/72
Trade (Tampa Bay) - '04
Washington D.C.

72

The Chargers added veteran leadership and experience to their offensive line when they acquired Roman Oben in a trade with the Tampa Bay Buccaneers in 2004. The veteran tackle started every game, including playoffs, and helped create running lanes for the league's sixth-ranked rushing attack. With Oben anchoring the pivotal left tackle spot, the Chargers surrendered just 21 sacks, the fourth-fewest in the league.

Football was in Roman's future at a young age. As a teenager, he sold hot dogs and game programs during Washington Redskins games at RFK Stadium.

A native of Cameroon, West Africa, Roman moved to the United States on Jan. 4, 1977. He was four years old and moved with his mother, Marie, who came to the states to work for the Cameroon embassy. In March 2004, Oben returned to Cameroon to visit schools and an orphanage, providing them with much-needed textbooks and financial assistance. It was the third time he'd returned to his native country.

In 2003, Oben was honored by the Vincent T. Lombardi Foundation as a Vince Lombardi Champion for community service in his hometown of Washington D.C. Roman supports many worthy causes, including United Way, Special Olympics and the fight against illiteracy and hunger. Oben has also hosted football camps at Westview High School in San Diego and at his alma mater, Gonzaga High School in Washington.

Roman is the founder of the Roman Oben Foundation. Its mission is to promote positive development of youth through football, literacy and other community outreach projects.

Growing up in the nation's capital spurned a natural interest in politics. While working toward a master's degree in public administration from Fairleigh Dickinson University, Oben completed internships with Democratic Congressmen Bill Pascrell of New Jersey and Dennis Kucinich of Cleveland. Kucinich was a 2004 presidential candidate.

Oben's hobbies include fishing and watching Comedy Central. He enjoys watching re-runs of Saturday Night Live and Mad TV, along with the Dave Chappelle Show.

IGOR OLSHANSKY

Defensive End

2nd NFL Season

Oregon
DOB: 5/3/82
Draft 2 - '04
San Francisco, Calif.

Igor Olshansky (E-gor, ol-SHAN-ski) was steady in his first season as a starter along the Chargers' defensive line. A defensive end in the team's 3-4 alignment, Igor helped contribute to the league's third-ranked run defense. The Bolts held opponents to just 81.7 yards per game on the ground and yielded only two rushes of 20 yards or longer all season.

Olshansky is the first player from the former Soviet Union to be drafted by an NFL team. Igor, who is Jewish, immigrated to the United States with his parents from the Ukraine when he was seven years old. Selected 35th overall in the draft after leaving Oregon following his junior season, Olshansky was one of the strongest rookies in the league. At the 2004 NFL Combine, he bench-pressed 225 pounds an amazing 41 times. At Oregon, he set a team record with a 505-pound bench press and during his on-campus pre-draft workout, he increased his 225-pound bench press to 43 reps.

Perhaps some of Olshansky's strength rubbed off from his grandfather, Abraham Rubashevsky, who fought for the Red Army in World War II and was wounded 11 times, leaving his left hand disabled. Perhaps some of his athletic ability rubbed off from his dad, Yury, who played basketball in the Russian Army. Igor didn't play football until his junior year of high school. Following in his father's footsteps, Igor played basketball at St. Ignatius.

True to his family's Russian heritage, Igor speaks fluent Russian. His non-football interests include military history and martial arts.

In July, Igor married the former Liya Rubinshteyn. The couple exchanged their wedding vows in San Francisco.

KASSIM OSGOOD

Wide Receiver
6-5, 220
3rd NFL Season
3rd with Chargers

San Diego State
DOB: 5/20/80
Free Agent - '03
Salinas, Calif.

Kassim Osgood has become a big-play threat for the San Diego Chargers. His 20.5 yards per catch average was tops on the team.

Coincidentally, the biggest play that he made all season didn't involve him catching the ball, but instead it had him catching Pro Bowl return specialist Dante Hall. In the Chargers' Nov. 28 game at Kansas City, the Chiefs led 17-14 at the start of the third quarter. On the opening kickoff of the second half, Hall got loose down the sideline and appeared to be on his way to a 92-yard touchdown return. One Charger who refused to give up was Osgood and he caught up to Hall at the 15-yard-line. His pursuit caused Hall to fumble and the Chargers recovered. The Bolts outscored the Chiefs, 20-14, in the second half and won the game 34-31. It was a pivotal play in a pivotal game for the Chargers on the road to the 2004 AFC West Championship, their first since 1994.

One of Kassim's biggest supporters is his mom, Phyllis. For Mother's Day, Kassim hired a limousine and arranged a "Dream Date" for mom. It began with spa treatment with his sister, Gabrielle. Then it was off to lunch with Kassim's two brothers, Tresean and Chayin, and a shopping spree with Kassim. The day ended with wine tasting in Temecula and a big family dinner at Donovan's Steak House.

Acting is one of Kassim's hobbies. He took an acting class in college at Cal Poly-San Luis Obispo and landed a spot as an extra in the blockbuster movie "We Were Soldiers," starring academy award winner Mel Gibson. Last year, he taped a commercial for T-Mobile.

Osgood contributes a lot of time to community service and volunteer work. He especially enjoys visits to military bases, ships and schools. He also enjoys playing basketball.

TRANSACTION HISTORY: Signed with Chargers as undrafted rookie, May 2, 2003.

2004: Led team's wide receivers with 20.5 yards per catch average...third on squad with 13 tackles on special teams...saw extensive action at Atlanta Oct. 17 after Reche Caldwell was injured and set season high with three catches...first touchdown of season on 12-yard catch and run against New Orleans Nov. 7...broke several tackles and delivered highlight-reel stiff-arm to cornerback Mike McKenzie on way to end zone...turned in two biggest plays of season in 34-31 win at Kansas City Nov. 28...on opening kickoff of second half, Osgood ran down Chiefs returner Dante Hall from behind as Hall appeared headed toward end zone and 92-yard touchdown return... Tennessee
DOB: 4/14/79

Few players work as hard as Eric Parker, who has had to overcome plenty of obstacles during his career. Coming out of college at Tennessee, he was labeled as injury-prone and, as a result, he was passed over in the NFL Draft. Eric was invited to join the Houston Texans as a free agent. After going through mini camp with the Texans, Eric didn't see much of a future for himself in the NFL. With a young son to feed, Eric decided to leave football and go in search of a new career with a steady income.

He returned to Knoxville to work part-time as a fitness trainer and was searching for a full-time sales job when the Chargers called and invited him to training camp just two days before it was set to open. Coincidentally, the day he accepted the Chargers' offer, three job offers in sales came up.

After another year beset by injuries in 2003, Parker enjoyed a breakout season in 2004. Not only did he set career highs with 47 catches, 690 yards and four touchdowns, but he missed only one game due to injury. Parker closed out the season in fine fashion, leading the team with 93 yards receiving and tying for the team lead with nine catches in the AFC Wild Card Playoff game against the New York Jets.

Eric comes from an athletic family. His father was a national champion Greco-Roman wrestler and his brother won two NCAA championships in wrestling at Southern Illinois. Eric competed in wrestling through high school. He also played baseball, lining up in center field and at shortstop. When Parker was 15, his baseball team won the 1993 Pony League World Series in Washington, Pa., defeating a squad from Puerto Rico.

JUSTIN PEELLE

Tight End
6-4, 255
4th NFL Season
4th with Chargers

Oregon
DOB: 3/15/79
Draft 4 - '02
Dublin, Calif.

Justin Peelle has been a solid contributor for the Chargers, both as a run-blocking tight end and a special teams performer.

Justin lists golf as his favorite hobby. He enjoys spending time at home with his wife, Sara, and the couple's two-year old Rottweiler named Payton. Justin named the dog after his boyhood idol, Hall of Fame running back Walter Payton.

In January, Peelle and teammates Kris Dielman and Ben Leber had the opportunity to enjoy a unique experience with the Navy. The three players flew out to and spent a night aboard the nuclear-powered aircraft carrier USS Carl Vinson. The trip was arranged by Peelle, whose grandfather is a retired Navy captain. Aboard the ship, the players observed flight operations as F/A-18F Super Hornets and other Navy and Marine aircraft catapulted off the deck. They toured the entire carrier and signed autographs for numerous service personnel. It was an experience of a lifetime for the players.

Peelle has worked as a volunteer assistant football coach at Poway High School and Scripps Ranch High School in San Diego.

PHILIP RIVERS

Quarterback
6-5, 228
2nd NFL Season
2nd with Chargers

North Carolina State
DOB: 12/8/81
Trade (New York Giants) - '04
Athens, Ala.

Philip Rivers spent his rookie season in San Diego learning from the sidelines.

After of a lengthy training camp holdout, Rivers spent the 2004 season between numbers two and three on the team's depth chart. When Chargers General Manager A.J. Smith pulled off a blockbuster draft day trade with the New York Giants to acquire Rivers, many thought he would battle Drew Brees for the team's starting quarterback position. As it turned out, Brees had a Pro Bowl season and Rivers was limited to action in two games.

Growing up in Alabama, Rivers did not attend his first professional football game until he signed with the Chargers.

He wears number 17 in honor of his father, Steve, who wore the same number in high school. Philip has worn it since the ninth grade. Philip's number was retired before his final home game at North Carolina State.

Philip married his childhood sweetheart, Tiffany, after his freshman season at N.C. State when he was just 19 years old. The couple has two daughters, Halle and Caroline. Philip asked North Carolina State Head Coach Chuck Amato for his permission before asking Tiffany to marry him. Philip's dad was the best man in the wedding.

Philip's name, spelled with one "l," comes from the Bible. He prefers to be called "Philip" but will answer to "Phil." In college, his nickname was "Cheese" as in a Phil(ly) cheesesteak sandwich. His favorite meal is meatloaf, fried okra and cabbage, and he enjoys a wide range of music from country music to the band OutKast.

Rivers' favorite quarterbacks are Joe Montana, Dan Marino, John Elway, Troy Aikman and Brett Favre. When he was in kindergarten, he worked as a water boy at Decatur High School in Decatur, Alabama, where his dad was the head coach. As part of a fifth-grade project, he had to make a poster about his dreams and aspirations. On the poster, he pasted his face over that of a Minnesota Vikings player who had appeared on a cover of Sports Illustrated.

Scifres' 69 booming punts were returned, the fewest in the league among players who punted in all 16 games.

On Dec. 5 at home against Denver, Scifres had a remarkable string of punts come to an end. It was in that game that he recorded his first touchback since the Chargers' Week 3 game against the Broncos at Invesco Field. It ended an impressive streak of 36 punts without a touchback, including 23 of which landed inside the 20-yard line.

Scifres lived in Bakersfield, California from the ages of 5-13 while his father worked for Shell Oil. He was born in New Orleans and returned there to attend high school. He went to college at Western Illinois upon referral from a close family friend, Dan Neal, who once coached at the school. At the time, Neal was an assistant coach with the New Orleans Saints and recently coached the tight ends for the Buffalo Bills. DeQuincy Scott was looking forward to playing in the Chargers' 3-4 defense in 2004. He was coming off a 2003 season in which he led the team with 6.5 sacks. Instead, "DQ," as he's known to teammates, battled abdominal and knee injuries that reduced his sack total to just 1.5. The good news is that he's again feeling strong and ready for a big year in 2005.

DQ is one of the team's leaders in the locker room. He has a fun-loving personality and an infectious laugh. His years in the NFL have been a study in patience and determination. He has taken his role in stride, relying on values he learned from his parents, Marilyn and Virgil. His mom spent 12 years as a special education teacher and his father is a pastor at the Pleasant Hill Baptist Church in Convent, Louisiana. Last February, DeQuincy married his college girlfriend, Ereka Luckett, in Canton, Mississippi.

DQ's hobbies include riding four-wheel-

LaDAINIAN TOMLINSON

Running Back
5-10, 221
5th NFL Season
5th with Chargers

Texas Christian
DOB: 6/23/79
Draft 1 - '01
Waco, Tex.

LaDainian Tomlinson is arguably the best player in the NFL today. In just four seasons, he is already the Chargers' all-time leading rusher. In August 2004, the Chargers showed their commitment to Tomlinson by signing him to an eight-year contract extension that makes him the highest paid running back in league history.

In 2004, "LT" went to his second-career Pro Bowl, and he was named a first-team All-Pro by the Associated Press for the first time in his career. He led the NFL with 17 rushing touchdowns and finished the season by scoring a rushing touchdown in a team and NFL single-season record 12 consecutive games, one shy of the overall league record (13), shared by a pair of former Washington Redskins, John Riggins (1982-83) and George Rogers (1985-86).

LT has rushed for at least 1,000 yards and 10 touchdowns in each of his first four NFL seasons. Hall of Famers Earl Campbell and Eric Dickerson are the only other players in league history that can make the same claim.

Tomlinson took advantage of the quiet time to travel during the offseason. It started with the trip to the Pro Bowl in February in which he paid the travel expenses for all five starters on the offensive line to accompany he and his wife, LaTorsha, to Hawaii. Upon returning from Hawaii, the Tomlinsons took two separate trips to Jamaica. The first was to celebrate the couple's wedding anniversary, while the second was a surprise for LaTorsha.

In between football and his traveling, LT found time to fulfill a personal commitment that he made to his mom to earn his degree from TCU. He finished his course work this spring, earning a degree in general studies with minors in psychology, sociology and radio/TV/film. He plans to return to TCU in December to take part in graduation ceremonies.

Tomlinson continues to do great things in the community. In May he hosted the third-annual LaDainian Tomlinson Celebrity Golf Tournament to raise funds for the Tomlinson Touching Lives Foundation. Proceeds from the tournament support the LT School is Cool Scholarship Fund. He also hosted two football camps, one at San Diego's Hoover High School that was held the same weekend as his golf tournament, and another in Waco, Texas at Baylor University. It was the fourth year he returned to Waco for the camp, which he runs with the help of Walter Brown, his former running backs coach at University High School. Nearly 300 kids attended each of the camps.

Once the season begins, Tomlinson will host the "21 Club" at each Chargers' home game. He invites upwards of 21 kids from San Diego youth groups and nonprofit organizations to attend a game. After the game, LT takes the kids to a local restaurant for dinner and a night of entertainment. Each child goes home from the "21 Club" with a goodie bag filled with school supplies, books and games.

Tomlinson enjoys basketball, golf and movies. He competes in pickup games in local gyms and often makes the two-hour commute to Los Angeles to watch the Lakers at Staples Center. Like many of his teammates, Tomlinson has an interest in classic cars and owns a restored 1964 cherry-red Chevy Impala, complete with a hydraulic lift kit.

COURTNEY VanBUREN

Tackle
6-6, 350
3rd NFL Season
3rd with Chargers

Arkansas-Pine Bluff
DOB: 2/22/80
Draft 3 - '03
St. Louis, Mo.

Courtney VanBuren is anxious to get back on the field after a trying year in 2004. Penciled in as a starter heading into training camp, he saw his season end prematurely when he suffered a knee injury that landed him on injured-reserve. Courtney is fully recovered and looking forward to working his way back into the rotation in 2005.

Courtney is no stranger to adversity. Raised by a single mom, they struggled to make ends meet. While he was away at college, the family's home in St. Louis burned in a suspicious fire. Lost in the blaze was Courtney's comic book collection that included more than 1,000 comics he'd collected since the age of 12. The fire may have been a blessing in disguise. Shortly after the fire, his mother, Michelle, moved to Washington D.C. and was offered a prominent job in the Office of Housing and Urban Development.

Courtney also maintains a close relationship with his father, Doug Banks, who is the host of a nationally syndicated radio show. The Doug Banks Show, which features a blend of talk and urban music is broadcast on ABC Radio affiliates across the country.

VanBuren's hobbies include making music on his computer, playing basketball, video games, and improving his hand-eye coordination at the shooting range. JAMAL WILLIAMS

Defensive Tackle
6-3, 348
8th NFL Season
8th with Chargers

Oklahoma State
DOB: 4/28/76
Draft 2 (Supp.) - '98
Washington, D.C.

Jamal Williams took his game to the highest level in 2004. The anchor of San Diego's 3-4 defense, Jamal was the Chargers Defensive Player of the Year and Lineman of the Year in 2004. He earned All-Pro honors and was named a first-alternate to the Pro Bowl. In May, the Chargers rewarded their massive defensive tackle by signing him to a five-year contract extension that will keep him in lightning bolts through the 2010 season.

Led by Williams, the Chargers had the NFL's third-ranked run defense. The unit held its opponents to an average of 81.7 yards per game on the ground and yielded only two rushes of 20 yards or longer all season. Only six teams rushed for more than 100 yards and only two players rushed for more than 100 yards individually against the Bolts last season. The Chargers allowed an average of only 3.7 yards per carry in 2004, sixth-lowest in the NFL.

Williams is widely regarded as one of the most physically-imposing defensive tackles in the NFL. It's natural, considering he comes from a family in which he was the second oldest of seven boys all raised by his mother, Harriet, a single parent. She works as a correctional officer at a juvenile facility in Louisville, Kentucky.

Williams owns an extensive comic book collection that includes more than 2,500 books.

Jerry Wilson provides veteran leadership in San Diego's defensive secondary. Last year, Jerry had a career-high three interceptions, including one which clinched an important late season win over AFC West rival Denver. He was also the team's fourth-leading tackler with 75 stops.

Last Summer, Jerry's younger brother Kyle was released from prison after completing a six-year term. Kyle met the team in Houston for a preseason game and saw Jerry play in person for the first time.

Football gave Jerry a path to steer clear of trouble as a youth. He has a daughter, Tanner, and two sons, Jerry III and Jared. He spends as much time as possible with them to make sure they don't stray down the wrong path.

Aside from spending time with his children, Wilson enjoys playing golf. He often joins some of his former Miami Dolphins teammates for weekend golf outings. He also likes reading and going to the movies. He has read several motivational books written by Reverend T.D. Jakes. Wilson will frequently spend an entire day by himself at the movie theater and take in as many as three movies. His favorite actors are comedians Martin Lawrence and Jim Carey.

Northern Colorado
DOB: 1/14/83
Draft 2 - '05
Colorado Springs, Colo.

The Chargers may have struck gold with yet another college basketball phenom with the drafting of wide receiver Vincent Jackson in the second round of the 2005 NFL Draft.

As a senior at Widefield High School in Colorado Springs, Colorado, Vincent was without a football scholarship. He wanted to attend Colorado or Colorado State, but would have to do so as a walk-on. That was until Northern Colorado's offensive coordinator went and watched him play basketball in high school and offered him a football scholarship to the Greeley, Colorado campus. Five years later, Vincent had rewritten most of the school's all-time records. He was a two-time All-America and became the highest NFL draft choice in school history.

Vincent spent much of his childhood in Louisiana. His father, Terence, was an Army medic and the family also lived in Phoenix, Arizona and Grafenwoher, Germany before settling in Colorado Springs. Vincent continued his basketball career in college, playing his sophomore and junior seasons for the Bears. As a senior, he became an All-Independent selection after leading the team in points and assists.

DARREN SPROLES

Running Back-Kick Returner
5-6, 181

Kansas State
DOB: 6/20/83
Draft 4 - '05
Olathe, Kan.

43

The Chargers enlisted the services of one of the most prolific runners and all-purpose performers in college football history when they selected Darren Sproles in the fourth round of the 2005 NFL Draft.

Sproles set nearly every school record imaginable, 23 in all, and is often referred to as the best player in the 109-year history of Kansas State football.

Sproles' numbers during his four years in Manhattan, Kansas include a school-record 4,979 rushing yards, 11th-most in NCAA history, and 6,812 all-purpose yards, sixth-most in college football history.

He now plays the game that he loves so dearly with a heavy heart and an angel on his shoulder. On April 25, 2004, Darren lost one of his greatest supporters when his mom, Annette, died at the age of 41 after a five-year battle with colon cancer. To honor their late mother, Darren and his brother Terence wear charms that read "RIP Mom."

Darren further honored Annette's memory when he bypassed potential NFL riches following his junior season and returned to Kansas State to complete his degree in speech pathology. In college, school officials arranged for him to work with a speech pathologist because he was uncomfortable and stuttered during interviews. Darren also spoke with basketball great and San Diego native Bill Walton, who had a stuttering problem years ago and is now an NBA analyst on ESPN.

Darren's nickname is "Tank," which came from his family because he weighed 10 pounds at birth. The first time Tank picked up a football in a game at the age of 9, he ran 80 yards for a touchdown in a Pop Warner game.

Darren still maintains close ties to Gene Wier, his former high school coach at Olathe North High School. During the summers while he was in college, Darren would return to his alma mater to volunteer at football camps and lift weights with the players. Darren has said that he would like to coach high school football after his playing career comes to an end.

WESLEY BRITT

Tackle
6-8, 314

Alabama
DOB: 11/21/81
Draft 5 - '05
Cullman, Ala.

The Chargers used their fifth-round selection in the 2005 NFL Draft to uproot All-America tackle Wesley Britt from the University of Alabama.

Wesley is the product of an athletic, close-knit family. His brothers, Taylor and Justin, play for the Crimson Tide. Taylor is a center and Justin is a defensive tackle. His sisters, Melissa and Lindsey, were collegiate athletes as well. Melissa played volleyball at South Alabama, and Lindsey played softball at Alabama-Birmingham. The Britt's parents, Tommy and Vera, were both athletes while growing up in Alabama.

Wesley was the first of the Britt children to enroll at Alabama. He was steered toward the Tuscaloosa campus by his grandfather, Durb, who had always wanted to play for the Crimson Tide. It turned out to be a good choice for Wesley as he became an All-America lineman at Alabama. In 2003, Wesley was named a preseason All-America by Playboy Magazine*, but declined to appear for a photo shoot for the magazine. As a Southern Baptist, he decided that it was not the image he wanted to portray. Several notable college players and coaches have made similar gestures including former Heisman Trophy winners Charlie Ward and Danny Wuerffel.*

2004 GAME SUMMARIES

San Diego Chargers 27, Houston Texans 20
Sunday, September 12, 2004 - Reliant Stadium (Houston, TX)

The Chargers began the season with a 27-20 win over the Houston Texans before a crowd of 70,255 at Reliant Stadium. Drew Brees' 125.2 passer rating was third-best among all NFL QBs on opening day. Eric Parker caught the game-winning 19-yard touchdown pass from Brees with 8:34 left in the fourth quarter, making an acrobatic catch along the back line of the end zone and dragging both feet to stay in bounds. Antonio Gates set career highs with eight catches and 123 yards. Four of Gates' catches came on third-down plays and resulted in first downs, including a seven-yard catch on a critical third-and-four in the final series of the game. Jerry Wilson thwarted a potential Texans' scoring drive at the end of the first half when he picked off David Carr with 21 seconds left in the second quarter. Randall Godfrey stopped another potential Houston scoring drive when he forced a fumble by Domanick Davis at the 14-yard line with 3:48 remaining in the fourth quarter. Steve Foley recovered and the Chargers offense did not allow the Texans to get back on the field. Foley earlier set up Caldwell's third-quarter touchdown catch when he intercepted a tipped pass at Houston's 49-yard line.

Denver Broncos 23, San Diego Chargers 13
Sunday, September 26, 2004 - INVESCO Field at Mile High (Denver, CO)

The Chargers failed to capitalize on several key opportunities and fell to the Broncos 23-13 before a crowd of 74,533 at Denver's INVESCO Field at Mile High. The Broncos staked out to a 13-3 halftime advantage and outdueled the Chargers in the second half to capture the victory. Broncos quarterback Jake Plummer torched the Bolts through the air, completing 25 of 36 for 294 yards with two touchdowns and no interceptions. Denver's defense stymied San Diego's offense, holding the Chargers to 129 net passing yards and limiting All-Pro rusher LaDainian Tomlinson to 60 yards and no touchdowns on 22 carries. San Diego's defense held the Broncos to just 37 rushing yards on 21 carries, the fewest yards allowed by the Bolts' defense since the 2002 season opener in Cincinnati. Randall Godfrey forced and recovered a Denver fumble that resulted in a touchdown by Brees and trimmed the Broncos' lead to 13-10 in the third quarter.

San Diego Chargers 34, Jacksonville Jaguars 21
Sunday, October 10, 2004 - Qualcomm Stadium (San Diego, CA)

The Chargers picked up their second win in a row and improved to 3-2 after a convincing 34-21 win over the Jacksonville Jaguars in front of a crowd of 52,101 at Qualcomm Stadium. In honor of Alumni Day, the Chargers wore their collegiate blue throwback uniforms, and at halftime, the team inducted Ed White and Don Macek into its Hall of Fame. The Chargers scored a touchdown on the game's opening drive and never looked back. San Diego kept the offense going, jumping out to a 21-0 lead in the second quarter, the first time the team had held such a lead since Nov. 24, 1996 at Kansas City. Drew Brees completed 17 of 26 for 211 yards and two touchdowns with no interceptions. Both of his scoring tosses went to tight end Antonio Gates. Running back Jesse Chatman saw the most extensive action of his brief career and racked up his first-ever 100-yard game, including a 41-yard touchdown run in the fourth quarter that put the game out of reach. Drayton Florence had his first-career interception in the second quarter, which led to an 11-yard touchdown pass from Brees to Gates. Jamal Williams had a career-high two sacks.

San Diego Chargers 17, Carolina Panthers 6
Sunday, October 24, 2004 - Bank of America Stadium (Charlotte, NC)

The Chargers overcame a lethargic start on offense and a 6-0 halftime deficit with a big second-half effort that led to a 17-6 win over the defending NFC Champion Carolina Panthers at Bank of America Stadium. The Bolts' defense held the Panthers to a pair of John Kasay field goals in the first half, and the offense took advantage of a missed field goal by Kasay in the third quarter, converting it into an eight-yard touchdown run by LaDainian Tomlinson. That was the beginning of San Diego's 17-0 run in the second half. The Chargers held the Panthers to six points and 263 total yards. Both were season lows for San Diego's defense. Jesse Chatman spelled Tomlinson in the fourth quarter and rushed for 69 yards on eight carries, including a 52-yard run that put him in position to score the game-clinching touchdown on a five-yard run three plays later. Terrence Kiel had his first interception of the season. He led the team with nine tackles and racked up a career-high three passes defensed. Mike Scifres helped the Chargers win the field position battle, landing three of his five punts inside the 20-yard line and allowing only one punt to be returned for no yards. Nate Kaeding bounced back from his first missed field goal of the season with a clutch 44-yarder in the third quarter that gave San Diego a 10-6 lead.

San Diego Chargers 23, Oakland Raiders 17

Sunday, November 21, 2004 - Network Associates Coliseum (Oakland, CA)

The Chargers completed the first season sweep of their division rivals since 1992 with a 23-17 win over the Oakland Raiders before a crowd of 46,905 at Network Associates Coliseum. Statistically, the Chargers dominated the game, outgaining the Raiders in total yards, 402 to 273, and setting a season high with 38:26 time of possession. LaDainian Tomlinson had a huge game for the Chargers on the ground, churning out a season-high 164 yards and a touchdown on 37 carries. Antonio Gates had a big game through the air, catching eight passes for 101 yards and a touchdown. Drew Brees was again solid at quarterback, scoring his second touchdown of the season on a six-yard run and completing 18 of 34 for 226 yards and the touchdown to Gates. The Chargers' defense held the Raiders to 53 yards rushing and put constant pressure on quarterback Kerry Collins. Linebacker Randall Godfrey delivered what was potentially the hit of the year following a third-quarter catch by Jerry Porter. That hit jarred the ball loose and right into the arms of Ben Leber, who returned it to the 23-yard line and helped set up a 19-yard field goal by Nate Kaeding.

San Diego Chargers 34, Kansas City Chiefs 31
Sunday, November 28, 2004 - Arrowhead Stadium (Kansas City, MO)

The Chargers won their fifth game in a row with a thrilling come-from-behind 34-31 victory over the Kansas City Chiefs before a capacity crowd of 77,447 at Arrowhead Stadium. Nate Kaeding capped the comeback with a 43-yard field goal with 2:24 remaining in the fourth quarter that was set up by a Donnie Edwards' interception. The win snapped a seven-game losing streak for the Chargers at Arrowhead Stadium. Drew Brees passed for a career-high 378 yards and threw two touchdown passes to Antonio Gates, while LaDainian Tomlinson scored twice on the ground. Wide receiver Kassim Osgood turned in two of the biggest plays of the game. On the opening kickoff of the second half, he ran down the Chiefs' Dante Hall who appeared to be headed for the end zone and a 92-yard touchdown return. Osgood's pursuit caused Hall to fumble the ball while changing hands. San Diego recovered and kept the score 17-14. Then in the fourth quarter with the Chargers facing a second-and-22 from their own 19-yard line and trailing 31-24, Osgood caught a career-long 65-yard pass from Brees. Four plays later, Gates caught his second touchdown pass and the Chargers tied the game, 31-31. The Chargers finished the game with 498 yards of total offense, the most since the team had 512 at Kansas City in 1986.

San Diego Chargers 20, Denver Broncos 17
Sunday, December 5, 2004 - Qualcomm Stadium (San Diego, CA)

The Chargers logged their sixth win in a row, 20-17, before a rain-soaked sellout crowd of 65,395 at Qualcomm Stadium. San Diego's defense came up with a huge effort, racking up a season-high four interceptions and holding the Broncos to 74 yards rushing. LaDainian Tomlinson shouldered the load on offense, rushing for 113 yards and two scores. Late in the fourth quarter of a tight game, the defense held the Broncos at bay as they appeared poised to tie the game or take the lead. Safety Jerry Wilson had an interception in the end zone off a pass that was tipped in the air by Drayton Florence, and then on Denver's final offensive series as the clock wound down, the Bolts stymied Denver's offense and prevented them from getting into range to try a game-tying field goal before time expired. Florence also had an interception on the opening series of the game that led to the first of Tomlinson's two touchdowns. Linebackers Steve Foley and Shaun Phillips had the other two interceptions. Phillips' interception right before the end of the first half helped set up a field goal by Nate Kaeding that gave the Chargers a 17-7 lead at the break. Linebacker Randall Godfrey had one of the Chargers' two sacks on the day. It pinned Denver at their own two-yard line, forcing them to punt. Following a 19-yard return by Eric Parker to the Denver 21-yard line, the Chargers got their second touchdown run from Tomlinson and took a 14-7 lead in the second quarter. Drew Brees threw an interception on his second pass attempt of the game, ending his team-record string of 194 consecutive passes thrown without an interception. Donnie Edwards racked up a career-high 20 tackles. Mike Scifres had his first punt go for a touchback since Sept. 26, ending a streak of 36 consecutive punts without a touchback.

San Diego Chargers 31, Tampa Bay Buccaneers 24
Sunday, December 12, 2004 - Qualcomm Stadium (San Diego, CA)

The Chargers stretched their win streak to seven games by handing the Tampa Bay Buccaneers a 31-24 setback before a sellout crowd of 65,858 at sunny Qualcomm Stadium. The game was strewn with big plays from beginning to end. It started with a bang on a career-long 79-yard touchdown pass from Drew Brees to Eric Parker and essentially ended with a 30-yard interception return for a touchdown by Donnie Edwards and a sack and forced fumble by Steve Foley that led to a late field goal. LaDainian Tomlinson was back to his old tricks, rushing for 131 yards and a touchdown. Kassim Osgood, filling in for the injured Keenan McCardell, helped the Chargers take advantage of a missed Tampa Bay field goal by catching a 19-yard touchdown pass from Brees at the end of the first half. Parker finished the game with 118 receiving yards, his first-career 100-yard game. Tomlinson's seven-yard touchdown run marked his 10th-consecutive game with a touchdown, a new team record. Edwards had two interceptions, tying his career high. The Chargers secured their first 10-win season since 1994.

San Diego Chargers 21, Cleveland Browns 0
Sunday, December 19, 2004 - Cleveland Browns Stadium (Cleveland, OH)

The Chargers wrapped up their first AFC West Division crown since 1994 with a 21-0 victory over the Cleveland Browns on a cold, snowy day at Cleveland Browns Stadium. The game-time temperature was 18 degrees with a wind chill factor of -10 degrees. It was the fourth-coldest game ever played in team history. Despite being forced to battle the elements that included a frozen field, San Diego's defense recorded its first shutout since Nov. 29, 1993 at Indianapolis. The Chargers took advantage of a 111-yard, two touchdown performance by LaDainian Tomlinson and a career-long 72-yard touchdown catch by Antonio Gates. Drew Brees attempted only six passes against the Browns, the fewest attempts in a game in team history. He completed four of the six, tied for the third-fewest completions in a game. Donnie Edwards' first-quarter interception off Luke McCown in the end zone led to San Diego's first touchdown on the ensuing drive. Gates' touchdown catch late in the second quarter gave San Diego a 14-0 lead at the half. It was his 12th touchdown catch of the season, tying the NFL record for touchdown catches by a tight end. The Browns attempted an onside kick to begin the second half. San Diego recovered the ball at the 42-yard line. Eleven plays later, the Chargers scored a touchdown for a 21-0 lead.

Indianapolis Colts 34, San Diego Chargers 31 (OT)
Sunday, December 26, 2004 - RCA Dome (Indianapolis, IN)

The Chargers' eight-game winning streak came to an end as the Indianapolis Colts rallied from a 31-16 fourth-quarter deficit to win the game 34-31 in overtime on a 30-yard field goal by Mike Vanderjagt. The game was played in front of a frenzied sellout crowd of 57,330 at the RCA Dome, which was on hand to witness Peyton Manning set the NFL record for touchdown passes in a single season. The record breaker took place on a 21-yard pass to Brandon Stokley with 56 seconds left in the fourth quarter that tied the game 31-31 following a two-point conversion. The Chargers wasted a brilliant offensive performance from Drew Brees, who completed 21 of 31 for 290 yards with three touchdowns and one interception, and perhaps an even better defensive effort from Steve Foley, who tied his career high with three sacks. Donnie Edwards also had a standout game, recording an interception at the Chargers' five-yard line, a sack and forced fumble, and a team-high nine tackles. LaDainian Tomlinson caught a career-long 74-yard touchdown pass from Brees. He finished the game with 176 total offensive yards, including 95 yards receiving. Tomlinson also scored a touchdown on a 16-yard run, marking his 12th-consecutive game with a rushing touchdown, the second-longest streak in NFL history. Antonio Gates caught a four-yard touchdown pass, his 13th of the season, to set a new NFL record for single-season touchdown catches by a tight end. Nate Kaeding scored seven points, including three on a 50-yard field goal, which increased his season total to 108 to set a new team rookie scoring record.

AFC Wild Card Playoffs
New York Jets 20, San Diego Chargers 17 (OT)
Saturday, January 8, 2005 - Qualcomm Stadium (San Diego, CA)

The Chargers' 2004 post season came to an early end when they were knocked out of the AFC Playoffs after suffering a 20-17 overtime loss to the New York Jets in a Wild Card Playoff game at Qualcomm Stadium. A sellout crowd of 67,536 braved the elements as Drew Brees led a furious fourth quarter comeback during which the Chargers outscored New York 10-0 in the fourth quarter to send the game into overtime. Given new life by a roughing-the-passer penalty on what appeared to be San Diego's last play of the game, Brees found Antonio Gates in the end zone for a one-yard touchdown pass with 11 seconds left to send the game to the extra period. It was only the second overtime playoff game in team history. Both teams traded possessions in the extra period before Nate Kaeding's 40-yard field-goal attempt sailed wide right, opening the door for New York to drive down and kick the game winner with five seconds left in overtime. Keenan McCardell scored the game's first touchdown on a 26-yard pass play. He was initially ruled out of bounds, but San Diego challenged the call and the ruling was reversed. It was McCardell's sixth-career touchdown catch in the postseason. Brees opened the game by completing his first eight passes. On the McCardell touchdown drive, Brees was five-of-five for 61 yards and the touchdown. He finished the game 31 of 42 (.738) to set team postseason records for completion percentage in a game (min. 10 att.) and for a career (min. 40 att.). His 31 completions were the second-most in a game in team playoff history and his two touchdown passes tied for the second-most. Eric Parker led the team with nine catches for 93 yards, tied for the third-most in a playoff game in team history. LaDainian Tomlinson equaled Parker with nine catches for 53 yards. He also led the team with 80 yards rushing on 26 carries, a team record for rushing attempts in the postseason.

Super Bowl XXIX
San Francisco 49ers 49, San Diego Chargers 26
Sunday, January 29, 1995 - Joe Robbie Stadium (Miami, FL)

The Chargers were no match for the high-powered San Francisco offense as the 49ers scored early and often en route to handing San Diego a 49-26 defeat. San Francisco quarterback Steve Young passed for four first-half touchdowns, including two to Ricky Watters and one each to Jerry Rice and William Floyd as the 49ers jumped out to a 28-10 lead at halftime. The barrage continued in the second half as Young connected with Rice for two more scores and Watters added a nine-yard touchdown run. Young finished with 325 yards and six touchdown passes while completing 24 of 36 attempts, and Rice caught 10 passes for 149 yards and three touchdowns. Young also added 49 yards on five rushes and was named the game's MVP. The Chargers' offense was forced to play catch-up most of the game, and as a result, quarterback Stan Humphries passed 49 times, completing 24 for 275 yards, one touchdown and two interceptions. Running back Natrone Means became the youngest player in Super Bowl history to score a touchdown when the 22-year-old dived over the 49ers' defense for a one-yard scoring plunge in the first quarter. Chargers rookie Andre Coleman tied a Super Bowl record for the longest kickoff return when he went 98 yards for a touchdown in the third quarter. Following the kickoff return, Humphries passed to Mark Seay for the first two-point conversion in Super Bowl history. Following a 30-yard Humphries to Tony Martin touchdown pass late in the fourth quarter, Humphries completed his second two-point conversion of the game, this time to Alfred Pupunu. Linebackers Dennis Gibson and Junior Seau led the Chargers with 11 tackles a piece, and Seau added one sack. Defensive end Raylee Johnson paced the Chargers with two sacks.

1994 AFC Championship Game
San Diego Chargers 17, Pittsburgh Steelers 13
Sunday, January 15, 1995 - Three Rivers Stadium (Pittsburgh, PA)

The Chargers advanced to the Super Bowl for the first time in franchise history with a stunning 17-13 upset victory over the heavily-favored Pittsburgh Steelers in Three Rivers Stadium. San Diego started the game slowly and Pittsburgh led the Bolts 10-3 at the end of the first half, while outgaining San Diego in total yardage, 229 to 46. The Steelers opened the scoring in the second half with a 23-yard Gary Anderson field goal to extend the lead to 13-3. Later in the quarter, Stan Humphries connected with Al Pupunu on a 43-yard touchdown strike to close the gap to 13-10. The score remained as such until late in the fourth quarter when Humphries threw another 43-yard touchdown pass, this one to Tony Martin, and the Bolts claimed their first lead of the game at 17-13. Pittsburgh took the ensuing kickoff and drove to the Chargers' nine-yard line with two minutes left in the game, but San Diego's defense stopped the Steelers on downs, including a dramatic pass defensed on fourth down by linebacker Dennis Gibson.

1994 AFC Divisonal Playoff Game
San Diego Chargers 22, Miami Dolphins 21
Sunday, January 8, 1995 - Jack Murphy Stadium (San Diego, CA)

The Chargers advanced to the AFC Championship Game with a 22-21 victory over the Miami Dolphins in front of a San Diego-record home crowd of 63,381 fans. The win moved the Chargers to the AFC title round for only the third time in team history and the first time since 1982. Dan Marino threw three first-half touchdown passes and the Dolphins led 21-6 at the half. San Diego's offense came alive and dominated the third quarter. The Chargers took the opening drive of the second half and marched 15 plays to the Dolphins' one-yard line before losing the ball on downs. But on Miami's first play from scrimmage, Reuben Davis stopped Bernie Parmalee in the end zone for a safety to make the score 21-8. San Diego took the ensuing kick and Natrone Means finished a 54-yard drive with a 24-yard scoring run, breaking several tackles along the way and the Dolphin lead was trimmed to 21-15. The teams traded possessions through the fourth quarter before Stan Humphries drove the team 61 yards in 10 plays and hit Mark Seay for the game-winning, eight-yard scoring pass. Trailing 22-21 with 35 seconds left in game, Marino moved the Dolphins to San Diego's 30-yard line and positioned Pete Stoyanovich for a 48-yard field goal attempt, which sailed wide right. San Diego dominated the game's time of possession, controlling the ball 39:20 compared to Miami's 20:40. The main factor was San Diego's running game, which rolled up 202 of the team's 466 total yards. Means rushed for a personal best 139 yards on 24 carries and scored one touchdown. Humphries completed 20 of 26 attempts in the second half.

1992 AFC Divisonal Playoff Game
Miami Dolphins 31, San Diego Chargers 0
Sunday, January 10, 1993 - Joe Robbie Stadium (Miami, FL)

The Chargers history-making season ended with a 31-0 loss to the Miami Dolphins in Joe Robbie Stadium. Intermittent downpours and a soggy field slowed both teams early as each squad was forced to punt on their first four series. The second quarter proved disastrous for San Diego. Stan Humphries was intercepted three times with each leading to a Dolphins touchdown and a 21-0 halftime lead for Miami. San Diego also suffered a fumbled snap on a punt attempt in the period. The Chargers could not get on track in the second half either, as Miami chalked up 10 more points and forced two more San Diego turnovers. The Chargers' defense was on the field most of the game (37:08). Junior Seau recorded a personal-best 19 tackles in the game. The Dolphins special teams put the Chargers in poor field position on several occasions, including punts, which pinned San Diego's offense back on its own five-, six-, four- and 15-yard lines.

1992 AFC Wild Card Playoff Game
San Diego Chargers 17, Kansas City Chiefs 0
Saturday, January 2, 1993 - Jack Murphy Stadium (San Diego, CA)

San Diego defeated the Kansas City Chiefs, 17-0, in the AFC Wild Card playoffs in San Diego's Jack Murphy Stadium. It marked the first shutout in the history of Wild Card games. It was also the first shutout by the Chargers over Kansas City and the first time the Chiefs were shut out in a non-strike game since 1985. The two defensive powerhouses battled to a scoreless half. The Chargers gained 130 total yards to the Chiefs' 122 yards in the half, but were sacked four times for 47 yards in losses. San Diego scored first when Marion Butts dashed up the middle a career-long 54 yards for a touchdown. On the Chiefs first play of their next possession, a tipped pass by Blaise Winter was intercepted by Leslie O'Neal to set up a 34-yard John Carney field goal. Up 10-0 in the fourth quarter, the Chargers put together an 11-play, 91-yard drive and culminated the series with a five-yard scoring plunge by Steve Hendrickson. The Chargers gained 192 yards on the ground, the second-most productive effort of the 1992 season. The defense harassed the Chiefs passing game causing two interceptions and sacking Dave Krieg seven times to tie a season high. Burt Grossman had two-and-a-half sacks and O'Neal and Shawn Lee each had two.

Trailing 14-3 with 4:54 remaining in the first quarter, the Chargers took a 17-14 lead into the locker room at halftime on the strength of an 18-yard James Brooks touchdown run and a 10-yard scoring pass from Dan Fouts to Eric Sievers. With 14:10 remaining in the game, Fouts threw an eight-yard touchdown strike on fourth down to Kellen Winslow to move San Diego within four points at 28-24. 1981 AFC Divisional Playoff Game
Saturday, January 2, 1982 - Orange Bowl (Miami, FL)

The Chargers traveled to Miami's Orange Bowl to face AFC East Division champion Miami and won an epic struggle, 41-38, on a 29-yard Rolf Benirscke field goal at the 13:52 mark of the first overtime period. San Diego jumped out to an early 24-0 lead, only to have the Dolphins close the gap under the direction of substitute quarterback Don Strock. The score was 24-17 at halftime and in the second half the Dolphins knotted the score at 24 and again at 31 before assuming their first lead, 38-31, on a 12-yard run by Tony Nathan. The Chargers took a Dolphin turnover and converted it into a 10-play, 82-yard drive, climaxed by a nine-yard pass from Dan Fouts to James Brooks with 58 seconds remaining in regulation. A Dolphin 43-yard field goal try with four seconds remaining was blocked by Kellen Winslow, forcing the game into the overtime period. In overtime, both teams had the opportunity to clinch victory on field-goal attempts. Benirschke missed a 27-yard attempt and Uwe Von Schamann had his attempt blocked by Leroy Jones. The Chargers' game-winning drive was highlighted by receptions of 20 and 29 yards by Wes Chandler and Charlie Joiner, respectively. Dan Fouts' passing performance resulted in records for completions, attempts, and yards in a division playoff, and Winslow's 13 receptions broke the division playoff record of 10 receptions, set by Pittsburgh's John Stallworth in 1978. Chandler had a 56-yard punt return for a touchdown for the Chargers, the first punt return for a touchdown in an AFC divisional playoff game. The Chargers broke 15 divisional playoff team records and tied two others.

1980 AFC Championship Game
Oakland Raiders 34, San Diego Chargers 27
Sunday, January 11, 1981 - Jack Murphy Stadium (San Diego, CA)

Oakland took a 28-7 lead in the first half and then held off a late San Diego bid to beat the Chargers for the American Football Conference championship. On the third play from scrimmage, Raiders quarterback Jim Plunkett had a pass bounce off the hands of his intended receiver, Kenny King, and into the grasp of Raymond Chester, who took the pass in for a 65-yard score. San Diego's initial drive was halted when John Jefferson slipped on the wet turf and Dan Fouts' pass zipped into the hands of defender Lester Hayes. The Chargers tied the score minutes later on a 48-yard pass from Fouts to Charlie Joiner. Oakland retaliated with a 76-yard scoring drive, aided by a Plunkett pass to Cliff Branch for 48 yards and a pass interference penalty. By the end of the first quarter, Oakland led 21-7, and the two quarterbacks had combined for 314 yards passing. Oakland later scored on a three-yard run by Mark Van Eeghen, making the score 28-7. San Diego scored near the end of the first half on an eight-yard pass from Fouts to Joiner. Rolf Benirschke kicked a 26-yard field goal and Chuck Muncie scored from six yards to narrow Oakland's lead to 28-24 in the third quarter. Oakland then marched 68 and 37 yards to set up two Chris Bahr field goals while running 10:38 off the clock. Trailing 34-24, Fouts took the Chargers 72 yards in 12 plays, getting a field goal from Benirschke that left them one touchdown behind with 6:52 to play, but Oakland controlled the ball for the final 6:52 and held on for the victory.

1980 AFC Divisonal Playoff Game
San Diego Chargers 20, Buffalo Bills 14
Saturday, January 3, 1981 - San Diego Stadium (San Diego, CA)

Quarterback Dan Fouts connected with Ron Smith on a 50-yard touchdown pass with 2:08 remaining in the fourth quarter. Fouts completed the pass on a third-down-and-10 situation with the Chargers trailing 14-13. The Chargers advanced to the American Football Conference championship against Oakland. Fouts completed 22 of 37 passes for 314 yards and two touchdowns. This was the 20th time in Fouts' career he passed for more than 300 yards in a game. The Chargers' defense held Buffalo to 97 yards rushing. The 50-yard, game-winning touchdown pass was the longest reception of Smith's career. He had caught four passes for 48 yards during the 1980 regular season. The Chargers trailed at halftime, 14-13. Momentum changed after halftime with the Chargers going 70 yards in four plays for a touchdown on the first series. Chuck Muncie ran for 18 yards, then Charlie Joiner caught a 45-yard pass, the next play resulted in a two-yard loss and then Joiner capped off the drive with a nine-yard scoring reception, making the score 14-10. A 22-yard field goal by Rolf Benirschke narrowed the gap to 14-13 in the fourth period. The Chargers started their final drive at the Buffalo 31-yard line with 3:59 to play. Two passes, two yards to Mike Thomas and 17 yards to John Jefferson got the ball to the 50-yard line.

1979 AFC Divisonal Playoff Game
Houston Oilers 17, San Diego Chargers 14
Saturday, December 29, 1979 - San Diego Stadium (San Diego, CA)

The Chargers 1979 season, featuring one of the best teams in franchise history, ended in disappointment as the Bolts fell to the Houston Oilers, 17-14, in a Divisonal Playoff game at San Diego Stadium. The Chargers were rolling early and took a 7-0 lead on Clarence Williams' one-yard touchdown on the Bolts first offensive possession of the game. Houston scored 10 unanswered points in the second quarter and led at the half, 10-7. On the opening drive of the third quarter, San Diego reclaimed the lead when Lydell Mitchell capped off a six-play, 65-yard drive with an eight-yard touchdown for a 14-10 lead. Houston came back later in the quarter as Mike Renfro caught a 47-yard touchdown pass from Gifford Nielsen and the Oilers jumped out to a 17-14 lead. The Chargers tried to fight back in the fourth quarter, but two Dan Fouts interceptions proved costly and Houston upset the Chargers and eliminated them from the playoffs.

1965 AFL Championship Game
Buffalo Bills 23, San Diego Chargers 0
Sunday, December 26, 1965 - Balboa Stadium (San Diego, CA)

It was the same two teams that met in the 1964 Championship game with the scene shifting from the East to the West Coast. But there obviously was no hometown advantage for the San Diego Chargers. Coach Lou Saban's Buffalo Bills found the 59-degree weather much to their liking in San Diego's Balboa Stadium, rolling to a 23-0 victory before 30,361 downhearted fans. San Diego's offensive unit was unable to generate any type of serious attack after the first quarter and the Jack Kemp-led Bills broke loose in the second period. Kemp teamed with end Ernie Warlick for the initial score, an 18-yard pass play capping a 60-yard drive. Just 2:20 later, the Bills struck again on a 74-yard punt return by Butch Byrd and at halftime, Buffalo was ahead 14-0. In the second half, the Chargers were able to contain Buffalo's ground game and Kemp's passing, but couldn't stop the talented toe of placekicker Pete Gogolak. His soccer-style kicks connected twice in the third quarter from 11 and 39 yards and once more in the final period from 32 yards.

1964 AFL Championship Game
Buffalo Bills 20, San Diego Chargers 7
Sunday, December 26, 1964 - War Memorial Stadium (Buffalo, NY)

Lou Saban sent his Buffalo Bills out for a post-Christmas gift after three lean years and one near miss in the American Football League. The Bills found what they were looking for and wrapped up the defending champion San Diego Chargers, 20-7, for the AFL Championship before 40,242 howling hometown fans. The Chargers started out as if they meant to repeat their 51-10 conquest of the Boston Patriots in the 1963 title game. They boomed from their own 20 in four plays with the payoff a 26-yard strike from retiring quarterback Tobin Rote to tight end Dave Kocourek. Keith Lincoln's PAT at 2:16 of the first period was the last time San Diego got on the scoreboard. Disaster soon struck the visitors when Lincoln was forced out of action with a broken rib on "the tackle heard around the world" by Buffalo linebacker Mike Stratton. Coupled with the absence of Lance Alworth, the injury to Lincoln left the Chargers offense impotent. Buffalo forged to a 13-7 halftime lead on field goals from 12 and 17 yards by rookie ace Pete Gogolak and a four-yard touchdown run by halfback Wray Carlton. The Bills tallied again in the final quarter on a sneak by quarterback Jack Kemp.

1963 AFL Championship Game
San Diego Chargers 51, Boston Patriots 10
Sunday, January 5, 1964 - Balboa Stadium (San Diego, CA)

Before 30,127 in Balboa Stadium and 30 million more on national television, Keith Lincoln ran, caught and passed like no other athlete ever has in a professional title match as the Californians crumbled the Boston Patriots, 51-10. The Chargers' offense produced 610 yards. Lincoln accounted for 349 of them in virtuoso performance that included a touchdown sprint of 67 yards, a touchdown reception of 25 yards, 206 yards gained rushing, 123 gained pass receiving and 20 gained passing. Lincoln's heroics were mightily abated by the others on a San Diego team that played with brilliance any professional team must respect, including the Bears. It was a powerhouse show by a team that had failed in two previous tries to win the AFL title. Houston outscored the Chargers, 24-16, in 1960 and beat 'em 10-3 in 1961. But the Patriots, with the league's proudest defensive outfit, were no match for the San Diegans. Splendidly prepared by Sid Gilman to combat Boston's almost constantly rushing linebackers, the Chargers scored on their fourth scrimmage play, on their sixth and on their 10th. The Patriots' ground attack suffered after fullback Larry Garron incurred a head injury midway through the second period. Garron later returned to the game but remained in it only briefly. The Patriots scored on a seven-yard run by Garron and a 15-yard field goal by Gino Cappelletti.

1961 AFL Championship Game
Houston Oilers 10, San Diego Chargers 3
Sunday, December 24, 1961 - Balboa Stadium (San Diego, CA)

The 1961 American Football League Championship game in San Diego's Balboa Stadium was a carbon copy of the previous season's title game in that the Houston Oilers beat the San Diego Chargers 10-3. On Jan. 1, 1961, the Oilers edged the Chargers, 24-16, in Houston's Jeppesen Stadium. A live audience of 29,556 fans and a nationwide television audience estimated in the vicinity of 40 million viewers withnessed a monument to defensive football at its best. The crowd at the stadium was limited because the game was played on Christmas Eve and the game was telecast into the Los Angeles area and many San Diegans received LA's ABC affiliate, Channel 7. The Oilers scored on a 46-yard field goal by George Blanda midway through the second quarter and added the clincher, a 35-yard touchdown pass by Blanda to Billy Cannon, late in the third quarter. The Chargers only scoring came on a 12-yard field goal early in the final period. Indication of the eveness of the ballgame is that both clubs had a total net offense of 256 yards.

1960 AFL Championship Game
Houston Oilers 24, Los Angeles Chargers 16
Sunday, January 1, 1961 - Jeppesen Stadium (Houston, TX)

The American Football League's first championship game took place Jan. 1, 1961 between the Eastern Divison champion Houston Oilers and the Western Division champion Los Angeles Chargers in Jeppesen Stadium, home of the Eastern titlists. The outcome: Houston 24, Los Angeles 16. In 50 degree weather with 70 percent humidity due to week-long rains, the Chargers took on the Oilers before a live crowd of 32,183 and a television audience of approximately 45 million viewers. Ben Agajanian kicked field goals of 38 and 22 yards to give the Chargers a 6-0 first quarter lead. In the second quarter, Houston's George Blanda hit Dave Smith on a 17-yard touchdown pass, added the conversion and kicked an 18-yard field goal. Agajanian kicked a 27-yard field goal with five seconds left in the half to make the score Houston 10, Los Angeles 9 at the half. In the third quarter, Blanda completed a seven-yard touchdown pass to Bill Groman and kicked the conversion. The Chargers responded when Paul Lowe slanted over from the two-yard line and with Agajanian's conversion the score was Houston 17, Los Angeles 16, at the end of three quarters. In the fourth quarter, Blanda and Billy Cannon teamed up on an 88-yard pass-run touchdown play to conclude the scoring. Player of the game honors went to Cannon, with Blanda and Lowe deadlocked a vote behind. On the day, Cannon gained 50 yards on 18 tries, caught three passes for 128 yards and returned three kickoffs for 81 yards. Blanda completed 16 of 31 passes for 301 yards. Lowe netted 165 yards on 21 carries, caught three passes for five yards and returned four kickoffs for 101 yards. Lowe's total yardage on the day was 271 yards compared to Cannon's 259. The inability of the Chargers to take the ball in for touchdowns early in the game, settling for three first-half field goals on each occasion, and several bad breaks late in the game proved to be the difference.

TRAINING CAMP AT CHARGERS PARK

On Dec. 16, 2004, the Chargers announced that beginning in 2005, training camp would take place at Chargers Park, the team's year-round training facility that opened in 1997.

Chargers Park is one of the newest and most state-of-the-art training facilities in the National Football League. It has three practice fields, including two 100-yard natural-grass fields and a 60-yard FieldTurf synthetic turf field. Chargers President Dean Spanos invested more than $100,000 to install the FieldTurf in April 2005.

Chargers Park is the ninth training camp site in the 45-year history of the San Diego Chargers. The team held its initial training camp in 1960 at Chapman College in Orange, California, before moving to the University of San Diego from 1961-62. In 1963, the team trained at Rough Acres Ranch in Boulevard, Calif., located in the rugged hills east of San Diego. The Chargers also trained in Escondido (1964-68), the University of California-Irvine (1969-1973), United States International University (1974-75), the University of California-San Diego (1976-2002) and the Home Depot Center in Carson, California (2003-04).

QUALCOMM STADIUM

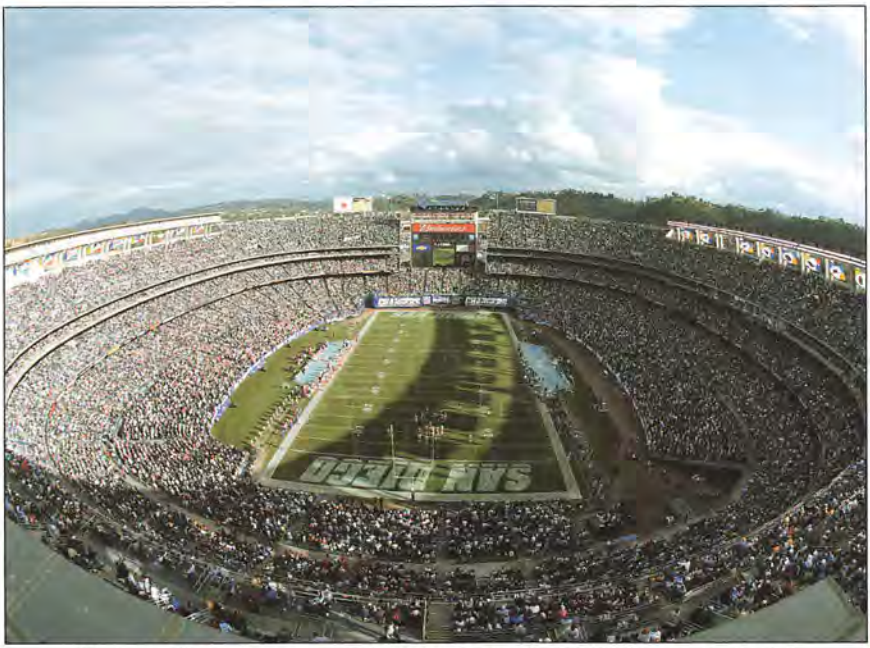

QUALCOMM Stadium, the stadium that the Chargers have called home since 1967, underwent an expansion in 1997 that included the addition of 11,500 seats, a club level, 37 new suites and a new west-end Jumbotron screen.

The centerpiece of the renovated stadium is the Chargers Club level. Chargers season ticket holders who purchase seats on the former loge level of the stadium enjoy amenities exclusive to Club members. The 7,800 Club seats are wider, padded and come equipped with an attached drink holder. To enhance the Club experience, members have wait service at their seats, featuring a menu complete with a variety of food specialties. Members also enjoy the comfort of four fan-friendly lounges where they can relax in an air-conditioned setting before, during and after the game. Restrooms on the Club level also have been upgraded.

The former Jack Murphy Stadium was renamed Qualcomm Stadium after the Qualcomm Corporation contributed $18 million for naming rights. Additionally, the total number of parking spaces at the stadium was increased to 19,000, including 461 handicapped spaces, making the parking lot at Qualcomm Stadium the second-largest in the National Football League. There was a significant increase in restroom capacity at the stadium, with the number of women's facilities almost doubled and the men's restroom capacity increased by 33 percent.

San Diego Stadium was originally built in 1967 as a home for the Chargers at a cost of $27 million. It was dedicated at a Chargers-Lions game on August 20, 1967, before a crowd of 45,988. The 1997 renovation marks the second major facelift to occur at the stadium. Originally built to a capacity of 52,000, the stadium was expanded in 1984 to increase seating capacity to 60,100. The most recent renovation increased the seating capacity at the stadium to 70,000.

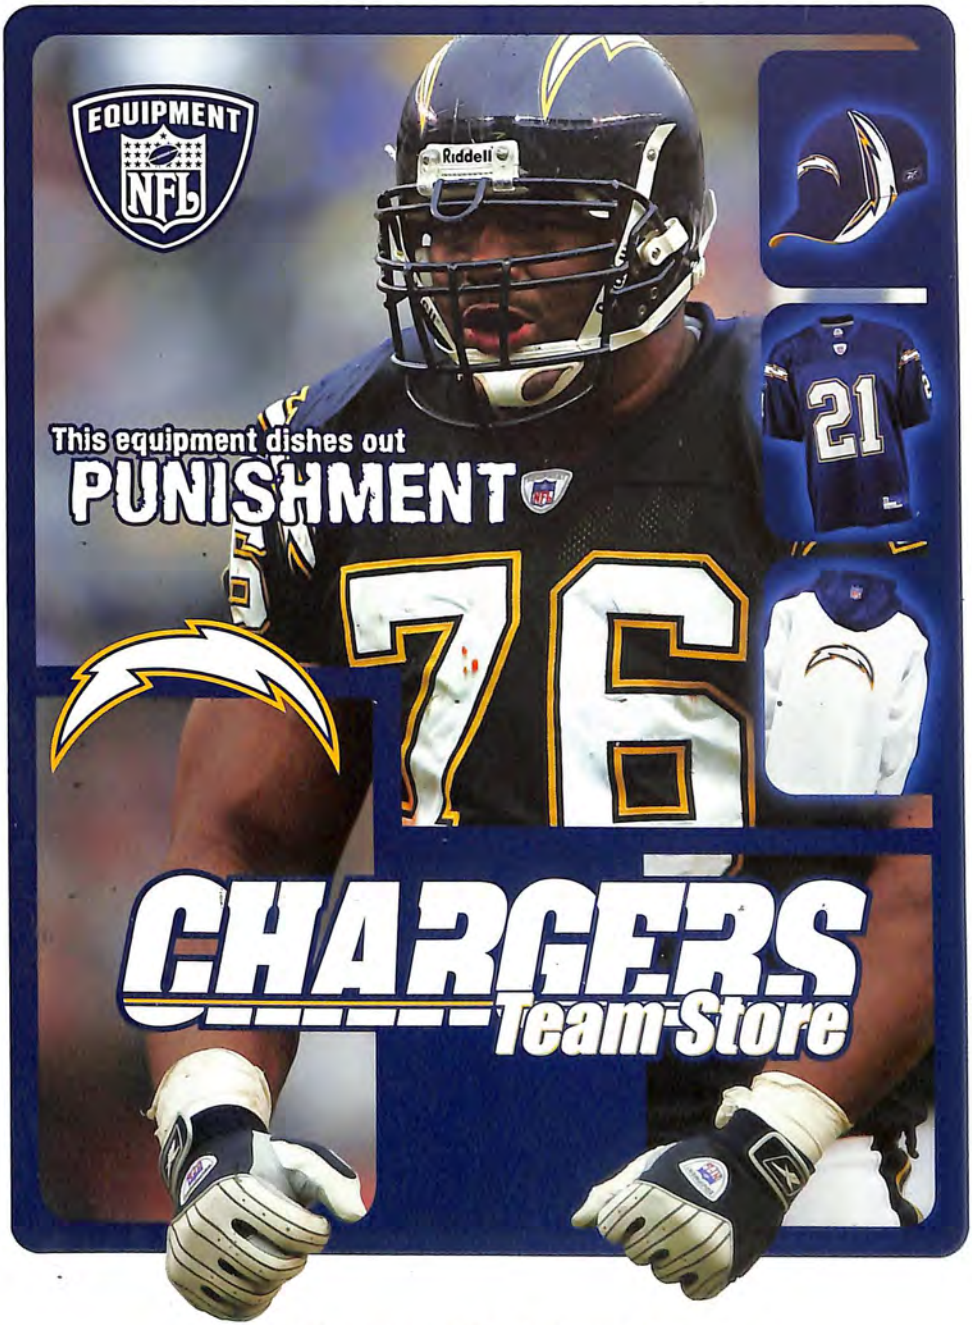

The team played before its first-ever sell-out crowd on December 3, 1967, when 52,661 turned out to see the Chargers battle the Oakland Raiders. In 1999, the Chargers played in front of the largest home crowd in team history when 68,274 fans were in attendance for a game versus the Green Bay Packers on Oct. 24, 1999.

Qualcomm Stadium was expanded in 1997 to a capacity of 70,000. The stadium hosted Super Bowl XXXVII on January 26, 2003.
